NAMES BLACKMAILER

MAYOR JOHNSON TO BE CALLED

INDIANAPOLIS, March 28.—Mayor Roswell Johnson of Gary, one of sixty-two defendants in the Lake county booze conspiracy case, was expected to take the stand in his own defense in federal court late today.

With the testimony of Johnson and Sheriff William Olds, the case of the defense probably will close by evening.

William Dunn, judge of Gary city court, a defendant, attempted to justify his practice of fining prohibition violators $50 and costs with no jail or prison sentences, while testifying today. Dunn explained that Gary had a large population of foreign born, many of whom were unaccustomed to the prohibition law, and he believed a prison sentence will have been unjust for them.

WOMAN KILLED IN EXPLOSION

BAUDETTE, Minn., March 28.—An explosion which killed Mrs. N. J. tephan, injured her husband and destroyed their farm home Sunday may have been caused by a bomb concealed in a stick of firewood, the sheriff of Lake of the Woods county declared today.

The explosion occurred when Mrs. tSephan was placing wood in the stove. An explosed rifle cartridge was found in a stick of green spruce. A man who, the sheriff said, was declared to have threatened tephan, was being held.

TRUCKS AND BUSSES MAY PAY LICENSE

Banning Bill, Which Was Once Defeated, Is Revived in the Senate for Proposed Specific Amendments.

Senator Banning's bill to license trucks and busses is to have another chance. It was defeated on passage in the senate but is again back in committee of the whole for specific amendment. Wilkins took the initial step to have the bill reconsidered and then Banning sent it back to the committee with amendments which will reduce the license fee about $25 on each class of trucks and busses and will permit operation of such vehicles between inland towns without license when used to transport merchandise or farm products. Vehicles operating wholly within a radius of twenty-five miles of any city or village are exempt from the bill. Banning proposes to amend section 10 of the bill to read: "Nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to the operation of any school omnibus or hearse or to any farmer engaged in transporting or hiring for transport or to any truck hiring for transport any live stock, farm produce or products or to trucks in transporting live stock, merchandise or farm produce to and from inland towns or to any person using a motor vehicle wholly within or within a radius of twenty-five miles of the corporate limits of any city or village in the state of Nebraska."

The following bills passed the senate Wednesday:

S. F. 181, by Purcell, for real estate classification boards to list lands in classes for taxation purposes, the county boards to become such bard after the ziginal board completes its work, vote 25 to 5.

S. F. 140, by Anderson, authorizing Lancaster and Douglas counties to discontinue printing of bar docket; vote 31 to 0.

S. F. 295, by Anderson and Warner, treasurer of cities under 40,000 and villages to publish annual statement, minutes of proceedings not to be published; passed, 22 to 7.

S. F. 101, the egg candling bill, was again sent back to the committee of the whole for specific amendment upon recommendation of the committee on phraseology which finds the expressions in the bill prohibiting sale of any article unfit for human food is not enough to cover egg candling.

S. F. 177, giving the state fire marshal greater authority over rooming houses and moving picture houses, was placed on general file.

S. F. 186, giving the state fire marshal complete control of gasoline, including filling stations, was placed on general file with amendments.

COLORED DOCTOR ON TRIAL

A. Porter Davis Charged With Statutory Offense on Person of Beatrice Rollins.

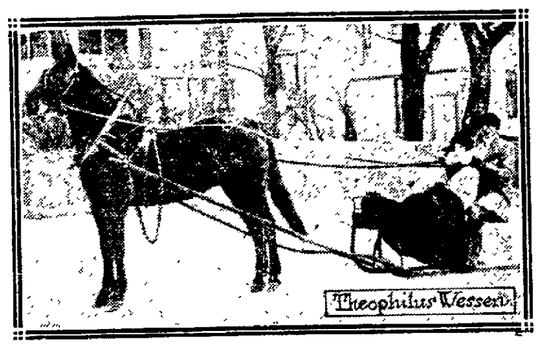

Dr. A. Porter Davis, colored, of Kansas City, Kas., said to be wealthy and influential in politics among his own people, is on trial in district court before Judge Stewart on a charge of a statutory offense on the person of Beatrice Hazel Rollins, also colored, and said to have been sixteen years old at the time

According to testimony that has bee ntaken, it is alleged by the state that the offense took place while Doctor Davis, Miss Rollins, and several other colored folks of Kansas City were in Lincoln attending a convention of the Heroines of Jericho, held in Lincoln in June, 1922.

Doctor Davis brought from Kansas City a formidable array of depositions in his own defense, among them being the deposition of Dr. . M. Banks, colored, of Kansas City, who is the Grand Joshua of the Grand court of the Heroines of Jericho.

The former Miss Rollins is now Mrs. Carl Brown, and her residence is Kansas City. She is attending the trial as a complaining witness. It is also charged that Doctor Davis is the father of her illegitimate child. It was apparent that the trial might last two days or more.

OPPOSES GROUPING OF THE RAILROADS

Secretary Whitten of the Chamber of Commerce Thinks Big Systems Only Would Benefit by Consolidation.

"I cannot see how any of the various groupings suggested for the proposed consolidation of railroads could benefit Lincoln," W. S. Whitten said after returning from Kansas City where a meeting was held to formulate a protest. "I think close examination of the plan will show that it is intended for a selfish purpose—to establish a few great trans-continental systems without regard to the effect on the interior. Now, the trans-continental business of the railroads is a negligible part of the whole.

"Consolidation will have an inevitable tendency to destroy competition. The railroads of our region have developed and flourished under a competitive system. Some of them, as some railroads everywhere, are overcapitalized, and cannot possibly make money under such a burden; but there are adequate remedies at hand to remove these conditions. A lot of roads are in existence today that perhaps never should have been built.

"Combining railroad systems into groups is very apt to result—in fact one of the suggested groupings implies that very thing—in the construction of short lines for the purpose of cutting the time between terminals, regardless of any consideration. It is easy to see how established channels of trade would suffer under such conditions, and how interior cities would be injured in order to benefit trans-continental shipping alone. Such a line was proposed by Mr. Harriman during the period of governmental control, between Lincoln and a central Nebraska point connecting with one of the trunk lines. It was to be built absolutely straight, tho by such a plan it missed some towns a mile or less. That proposal caused a dreadful uproar, as well it might, and that is the sort of thing consolidation would open the door to.

"I think a close examination of the proposal will show anybody that it was not planned for the good of the country, but of a few interests."

REDUCTION OF RATES FOR WHEAT SHIPPERS

Railway Commission Puts Four Cents a Bushel Into Pockets of Growers in Southeastern Nebraska.

Among a number of rate matters disposed of recently, the state railway commission has just secured an adjustment of freight rates on grain from the southeast corner of Nebraska to St. Louis. These rates will become effective April 20, and amount to a substantial reduction as well as a better adjustment between stations. The towns affected, and the present and proposed rates are as follows:

	Present		April 20
Stations:	Wheat	Corn	Wheat	Corn
Rohrs	22	19½	22	19½
Johnson	25½	23½	23	20½
Salem	20½	18½	20½	18½
Dawson	26	23½	21½	19½
Humboldt	26½	23½	22½	20½
Munson	27½	24½	24½	22
Table Rock	27½	24½	26	23½
Tecumseh	26½	23½	26	23½
Lincoln	26	23½	26	23½

A great deal of this wheat is for export, and the reduction adds four cents to each bushel shipped by way of the gulf ports.

Complying with an order recently issued by the commission railroads operating in Nebraska have filed tariffs making effective as of March 16, 1923, the so-called Bock law with reference to mixed carload shipments of livestock in Nebraska. At the present time on mixed shipments of livestock the roads charge the highest rate and the highest minimum weight applicable on the stock in the car. Under the Bock law it is provided that a straight minimum of 17,000 pounds will apply and the rate shall be that of the species having the highest rate. This amounts to a material reduction, since prior to this time where cattle were included in the mixed shipments the minimum weight was 22,000 pounds. Quite often mixed shipments were not loaded to that weight, but the shipper paid on 22,000 pounds regardless. The Burlington and Union Pacific have indicated to the commission that they would make refunds on all shipments back to May 24, 1922. Farmers and dealers who had made mixed shipments of this character, therefore, can submit their claims to the commission and a refund will be arranged for.

DEATH BLOW GIVEN THREE

House Adds Trio of Bills to Already Long List of the Indefinitely Postponed.

House roll No. 5, which has been slumbering in committee since early in the session, was roused from its sleep Wednesday morning in time to have deadly dose of chloroform administered. It was introduced by Gilmore, and proposed to amend the constitution so that a rural credits system might be established with state credit behind it.

H. R. 527, by Wilson of Lancaster, bowed its captive head to the executioner. It proposed to bestow upon all cities and villages in the state down to those of 500 population the boon of making their own charters instead of depending on the legislature to tie and untie the hands of the citizenry.

H. R. 316 also enrolled among the slain. It was one of the numerous bills cutting out of the constitution, by the amendment route, the $200 exemption of personal property, and makes way for S. F. 24, a similar bill already passed by the upper house.

H. R. 413, which named certain sorts of deposits that now share the protection of the guaranty fund and removed them therefrom, was sent to general file, amended in several particulars.

H. R. 478, relating to stolen bonds, was put on general file, as was S. F. 143, allowing land owners to hunt and fish on their own property without a state license, and amending the law in other particulars.

Convict Found Not Guilty of Trying to Escape From Penitentiary in January.

Hugh Howell was cleared of a charge of trying to escape from Lancaster prison when a jury in district court brought in a verdict of not guilty at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, after a few hours' deliberation. Howell was caught with William Pavy on top of the prison wall a few minutes after a steam pipe had burst, and Pavy was convicted a few weeks ago of trying to escape under cover of dense clouds of steam. Howell took the stand that being found on top of the wall did not necessarily imply an intent to escape.

U. S. FAMILIES MERE SAMPLES

"The American families of today in which there are one and two children aren't families, they are only samples of families. An American will spend more time in training animals than he will his own children. There is no such thing as childhood for the American girl and boy of this generation." These are some of the things the Rev. Dr. John McNeill, Scotch preacher, has to say about the families and children of today.

IDENTIFIES MATTERS LETTERS

First Attempt of Prosecution to Show Use of Mails to Defraud.

OMAHA, March 28.—The first attempt of the prosecution to prove that Thomas H. Matters and fifteen other defendants in the Colonial Timber and Coal company mail fraud trial had used the mails to defraud was made in federal court here today.

Michael Schaffer, assistant cashier of the Peoples Savings bank of Evansville, Ind., identified eight letters signed by Matters which offered Colonial company shares for sale.

According to Schaffer, Matters had consummated business deals which left him indebted to the Evansville bank to the extent of $50,000.

Edwin H. Shonk, manager of the Shonk Land company of Charleston, W. Va., testified that certain persons whom he named were the true owners of the Colonial acres which the defendants on trial claim to own.

DAUGHERTY HAS AIDED PECORA

NEW YORK, March 28.—Draper M. Daugherty, son of the attorney general, today gave Assistant District Attorney Fred Pecora the name of the man he says attempted to blackmail him by threatening to reveal his friendship for Dorothy King, "Broadway butterfly."

Pecora said he would call the man named and question him to ascertain whether he knew anything about a blackmail gang which is suspected of having chloroformed Miss King because she refused to join in their plots.

Daugherty told Pecora that his friendship for the "butterfly" was purely platonic, and that he had no secret which the blackmailers could expose. Therefore he defied them.

The meeting between Daugherty and Pecora occurred in the criminal courts building. The attorney general's son entered and left so quietly that his presence was not discovered. After his departure Pecora gave the following account of their conference

Daugherty said he received a telephone call the night of March 22 from a man who threatened to tell of his friendship for Miss King. (The girl was slain March 15.)

Daugherty learned that the same man tried to reach him twice before during the same day. He told the man "You come here and tell that to my face and there will be some fun."

SMOKELESS PAL IS IDEAL

Michigan Ag Students Decide Perfect Type of Woman Can Share Confidences and Be Loyal.

DETROIT, March 28.—At last the ideal girl has been described. Men students at the Michigan agricultural college in East Lansing in answer to a questionnaire of the college paper have set a definition on this elusive personage.

Following seems to be the general opinion of the ideal girl as seen by these collegians:

She is the kind of girl who would make a good pal.

She can share confidences and be loyal

She would be what the fellows call a "good head," but not of the "superbrain" type.

She stands for beauty in every sense of the word, the physical beauty of sane living, the mental beauty that comes from association with music, poetry and all manner of beautiful things, and the spiritual beauty that is manifest in unfailing tact and whole-hearted friendliness.

Her hair may be bobbed if it becomes her and she may carry a vanity case if she so desires and powder her nose provided the effect is not conspicuous. But she must not put rouge on her cheeks or lips.

Under no circumstances will she smoke cigarets.

She never attends "petting parties"

She enjoys the companionship of men in the outdoors as well as on the dance floor.

She is 100 per cent natural.

After publishing a few of the answers received the college paper comments, "try and find her."

His report showed the collection and expenditure of a budget aggregating $4,700 in Y. M. C. A. activities. No other city of the size of Aurora in Nebraska maintains such a successful and helpful Y. M. C. A. and its success is largely due to the earnestness and vim of Secretary Eloe. He has made it nearly self-supporting.

To reach this home only several miles away, the pastor and those furnishing the music had to drive a distance of nearly seventy-five miles in various detours on account of the snow storm of ten days ago. Many of the east and west roads are still blocked by immense drifts ten feet high.

GERMANS ASK A CONFERENCE

Suggest Business Meeting for Settling Ruhr Problem.

IN HUGHES MEMORANDUM

Huge International Loan on the Program.

Want America to Participate in International Parley—Is Endorsement of Hughes Proposal of Last December.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Germany has officially suggested to the United States that an international business conference, to be participated in by America, be called for the purpose of settling the Ruhr and reparations problems.

This was contained in the memorandum recently laid before Secretary of States Hughes by the German government, which set forth the complete position of Germany in the occupation of the Ruhr, and indicated that the power of the Cuno government was ready to go in conference for bringing about settlement. The same document was presented to Great Britain.

The Journal herewith can reveal the nature and details of the presentation of Germany's case, the contents of which have been gept as a closely guarded secret.

The German suggestion for an international business conference was in the nature of an advocacy of the proposal by Secretary Hughes to Europe last Decembed that the reparations questions be turned over to a commission of financial and economic experts, including American representatives, for recommendation of a figure within Germany's capacity to pay.

The Hughes proposal was blocked by a rebuff from France. The memorandum of the Cuno government declares Germany is ready and willing to accept the Hughes plan and elaborates on the proposal.

Should France and all the other nations concerned accept the proposal for such an international conference it is understood, Germany would seek a great international loan, part of which would be turned over to the allies on the reparations account. First, however, Germany would insist that the French and Belgian troops be withdrawn from the Ruhr.

Interest In U. S. Plan.

LONDON, March 28.—Increasing interest in the American plan for settlement of the reparations difficulties by an international commission was manifest among British and German leaders as the cabinet met here today to discuss the entire situation.

The latest German peace feelers which have been put out to Britain are understood to have embodied Secretary Hughes' suggestion for appointment of an international arbitration board.

The British cabinet discussed the new German proposals. The press recalls France's warning that mediation will be considered an unfriendly act.

FOR BETTER PLAYGROUNDS

City and School Authorities and Parent-Teacher Association Will Mass Forces.

The summer playground activities will be concentrated under one head as the result of a conference held Wednesday morning between Mayor Zehrung and a committee from the board of education and the parent-teacher association. The board was represented by M. L. Palmer and Superintendent M. C. Lefler and the parent-teacher organization by Mrs. Fred Easterday and two other members. Plans will be worked out in a short time. It was felt that with a combination of the school authorities, the city council and the parent-teacher association that a greater work than ever can be done along these lines. Lincoln children, it was agreed, are entitled to supervised play. The city park department is able to offer several good places for the location of public playgrounds and the board of education is able to furnish proper locations.

Last year the city spent $600 in employing supervisors to look after the children at Antelope park and work was done also under the supervision of the school board and the parent-teacher association. With the centralization of such activities it is believed that a much larger number of children will be reached.

The school board will furnish the services of a head supervisor and the general playground activities will be under her direction. Mayor Zehrung said that the city will have $600 to spend this year and with the $1,000 in the cash box of the school board will create a total fund of $1,600. The parent-teacher association will interest itself, it is understood, in seeing that as many children as possible are given the advantages of the public playground privileges. Efforts will be made to interest friends of the children to volunteer their services. More money is needed for apparatus.

FINES ON INSTALLMENT PLAN.

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—Progress is being made against a suburban police judge in Los Angeles who permits speed law violators to pay their fines on the plan of $1 down and $1 a week.

"ANGEL"

It is now revealed that Miss Keenan was murdered because she would not consent to be a member of the party which was to have blackmailed Mr. Mitchell for $100,000. Mr. Mitchell had lavished many gifts and much money on the slain girl.

BROKE UP A CRAP GAME

FIFTEEN UNDER ARREST AS RESULT OF HAVELOCK RAID.

Officers Claim They Picked Up Dice and Some Money Following the Receipt of an Anonymous Letter by Sheriff.

Fifteen men are under custody of county and city police officers, and three more are under orders to report when asked, according to Deputy Sheriff Hughart, as a result of a raid by Sheriff Hensel and his deputies, Police Officer Rymer and State Sheriff Carroll Tuesday night on the Union hotel, Twelfth and P streets, Havelock. Mr. Hughart said the raid was made after the sheriff received an anonymous letter calling his attention to the expected game. Tuesday was payday in Havelock, it was said.

The names of the men were given as:

Frank Knox, 2221 Warren Av., Havelock.
Harry Mallory, 1502 Q street, Lincoln.
Ray Rose, 1527 O street, Lincoln.
E. B. Brock, Fourteenth and M streets, Havelock.
V. Hendrick, Twelfth and O, Havelock.
Frank McGowan, 537 North Tenth street, Lincoln.
Fred Latham, Bradshaw, Neb.
Joe Sedlack, Fourteenth and P street, Havelock.
W. W. Hoagland, 2221 Warren Av., Havelock.
Peter Margarites, California Lunch room.
Bert Bigler, Havelock.
Clem Peacock, Fourteenth and P., Havelock.

Those listed above are on the guest book of the county jail under the heading, "Volstead." What that means is not explained. The names of Joe Franklin, Frenk Reed and Frank Casey, all of Havelock, are on the register at the police station, and are said to have been taken in the same raid, but lodged in the city jail on account of crowded conditions at the county institution.

County Attorney Matson said complaints would be filed, but that he had not made any decision as to what their nature would be.

Karl Schmitt, who also took part in the raid, said the game had been conducted on a long table covered with a blanket, and that from $50 to $100 was picked up by the officers, evidently having been in the "pot."

BARRISTERS ARE TO MEET

Resolutions are to be read on the deaths of members of the bar, and committees appointed to write resolutions on others who are absent at roll call. The speaker of the evening will be Attorney Francis A. Brogan, of Omaha, who will speak on the relation of the Sherman anti-trust law to the consolidation of railroads.

MOVIE MEN LOST IN JUNGLES.

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—Friends of William F. Alder, Los Angeles explorer and motion picture man, believe him to be lost in the land of Kia Kias on the southern coast of New Guinea, where he went a year ago to study one of the world's last tribes of cannibals. The last word received from Alder and his cameraman, John W. Boyle, was dated Christmas day. The pair announced their intention of going into "cannibal land" on the following day and expected to be occupied about a month.

PROBE GROUP DISCHARGED

UNIVERSITY INVESTIGATORS ARE GIVEN FINAL RELEASE.

House Members Walk Out on Jacoby and Law and Order Seriously Threatened on Number of Separate Occasions.

The house voted 52 to 40 Wednesday to give the university investigating committee an honorable discharge. Twenty-nine democrats and eleven republicans opposed the release which was instigated by four of the committeemen. Chairman Auten was the lone member of the group to oppose dissolution. He is a democrat.

There were a number of sensations or near sensations during debate on proposed release of the committee which completed its work and presented its findings on Tuesday. Probably two-thirds of the house members walked out while Jacoby was speaking. While the procession was en route to outside quarters, Representative Hughes, republican in line of march and Representative Hyde, democrat, came near administering the black and blue eye process. Mr. Hughes, while passing behind the Hyde desk, urged others to join in the walk-out. The democrat resented either the process or the sound of the Sarpy member's voice. Hot words, challenges and a promised fight were suppressed by the regular sergeants and Sergeant-Extraordinary Keifer and Baldridge, both powerful of stature.

Mr. Jacoby charged the committee with being a "whitewash" group. He hinted that the members had been in league with university regents and the "alumina." He accused them of making Mr. Condra the goat. First he insisted that the committee be retained and next he wanted the members fired and a new committee appointed. His remarks drew fire and caused members of both parties to retire. He was particularly hostile toward Representative Vance. The member from Adams declined to give ground. Messrs. Baldridge and Keifer again stepped into the breach.

"Why must this Jacoby talk on everything that comes up?" asked Regan.

"If we are to be harassed thruout the session by this member, I think I shall resign," said Representative Bailey, republican.

"It's a disgrace to this house to permit a member to carry on that way," said Vance, in referring to Jacoby.

There were shouts of "sit down" from all corners but the member from Lancaster continued his tirade. His major kick is that the farmer who sells hay or grain at the university farm must wait for his money.

"If you want your money right away you can take your voucher to Elmer Stephenson and have it discounted," he said.

His motion to have all documents in the hands of the committee turned over to the chief clerk and to have a new committee appointed, was smothered.

Jacoby refused the honor of a chairmanship in committee of the whole. He grabbed his hat and walked out but returned a few moments later.

BANKING BILL IS ADVANCED

SENATE PLACES APPROVAL ON AMENDED HOUSE BILL.

Fixes Everything Up to Meet Critics and It Is Expected That It Will Become a Law Within Short Time.

H. R. 272, the banking bill, amended by the senate to meet the objections made by the opposition that it originally took control of the deposit guaranty fund from the state and the naming of guaranty fund commissioners from the governor, was advanced to third reading over the head of the phraseology committee Wednesday morning, by a unanimous vote of the senate.

Mr. Anderson said that two of the provisions did not meet with his approval, one of them being that which turns over receiverships to the guaranty fund commission, but that he would vote for it as an earnest effort made to relieve a trying situation.

The greater part of the morning session was spent on the bill. One of the amendments adopted was to add the national bank law provision that makes directors personally liable for excess loans. The new matter added to the present law provides that directors who violate the law relating to excess loans or allow it to be done forfeit the franchise of the bank and personally and individually become liable for all damages to the bank arising from their participation in or assent to any violation of any part of the act.

Another senate amendment provides that no bank shall increase the book value of any of its approval without the approval of the banking department. The penalty for bank examiners who fail to report failing condition of banks was increased to $1,000 fine, and carries also six months imprisonment, either or both.

Reed objected to the salary and expenses of the guaranty fund commission being paid out of the department funds, believing that the people would not understand that the bankers pay all expenses of the department anyway and may construe this to be adding new officers. He thought the bankers would be in a better light if they paid this out of their own pocket.

Bliss said that there is a feeling that the reason why so many banks failed was lack of proper supervision, and he believed the people would approve this method of getting better supervision. This bill creates a new public activity, the commissioners will belong to the department as much as do the examiners. The department is yearly turning in an excess from the fees collected from bankers, and out of this the money will come.

A flashlight attired man who had been seen in her apartment is being sought by the police.

HARDING PLANS PROBE OF SUGAR SITUATION

Determined To Go To Bottom of Case and Find Out Who Is Responsible.

TO ASK DAUGHERTY TO AID

Department of Justice Has Power to Make Inquiry.

CAN DO MORE THAN HOOVER

Harding Feels That Criticism of High Price and Tariff Involve Indirect Slur on Administration.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Investigation of the relation of recent sugar price increases to the tariff, as ordered by President Harding, is insufficient to stop speculation and force prices back down to a normal level, Basil Manley, director of the Peoples Legislative service, said today in another telegram to the chief executive at St. Augustine, Fla. Prosecution of the profiteers who are alleged to have forced the price up by market manipulation is necessary, Manley declared.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—A sugar surplus of 476,000 tons will exist at the end of the present year, the department of commerce semi-annual survey of world sugar production and stocks estimates, Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared today in another letter on the recent jump in sugar prices.

Writing to Representative Dallinger of Massachusetts, the secretary emphatically stated that his department had no figures to indicate any sugar shortage. False reports that a sugar shortage was in sight are blamed for the price increase of the last few weeks.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—President Harding is determined to go to the bottom of the sugar situation and ascertain definitely who or what is responsible for the manipulation in price of this national necessity.

A complete government investigation—not only from the tariff angle as demanded in a letter the president has forwarded to the tariff commission—is in prospect, it was learned today.

Attorney General Daugherty will be asked to enlist the aid of the department of justice, while Secretary of Commerce Hoover will probe the commercial end, according to present plans.

A conference between Daugherty and the president has been arranged for today and means of ascertaining the truth in the situation which is causing Mr. Harding much alarm will be discussed.

Mr. Harding has announced the sending of a letter to the tariff commission demanding that it attempt to learn how far the high republican tariff goes toward influencing prices. The president feels that this tariff is not responsible and he is anxious to clear the name of the administration from accusations which have been made in some quarters.

But this is only a preliminary step in the general governmental inquiry. The department of justice has full authority to go into the price situation and do things which the commerce department under Secretary Hoover could not have done. Hoover has no power to summon witnesses or command that information concerning price manipulations be given. Daugherty has.

Mr. Harding is very much aroused. The reports and counter-reports which have been bandied about were brought to his attention by A. D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board and a personal adviser of the chief executive.

Other members of the vacation party have pointed out editorial in many newspapers indirectly attacking the administration and directly blaming the high republican tariff. In seeking vindication in an investigation, Mr. Harding realizes the importance of preventing democrats from making political propaganda out of the situation, it was said.

Mr. Harding likewise realizes that a mere announcement that the high tariff is not responsible for the high sugar price will not satisfy the public.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—A department of agriculture survey reports the prospective sugar supply for next year to be more than ample and no shortage threatens that would justify the recent price increase, it was declared by officials here today.

The survey will be made public shortly. The agricultural department will place Cuban sugar production higher than recent estimates but will show the American beet sugar crop somewhat smaller than last year. The production in other countries, however, will be larger.

Thomas O. Martin, tariff commissioner, said the probe of the tariffs as requested by President Harding will be started at once and that preliminary data has already been collected.

EASTER DAY TO BE CLEAR

Weather Bureau Believes Day Will Be Cool, But Refuses to Make Definite Forecast.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The Easter Sunday fashion parade probably will have a cool, clear day for a setting, the weather bureau stated today. However, it refused to make a definite forecast.

HOUSE WON'T GIVE SIGNAL

REFUSES TO APPOINT COMMITTEE TO TALK ADJOURNMENT DATE.

Likewise Declines to Name Sifting Committee to Tell House What Bills Shall Be Considered by It.

The house Wednesday morning, after much debate, voted down a motion to name a committee to consult with a senate committee as to the date of adjournment. Likewise it refused to take steps to have a safting committee take charge of the general file.

Gordon presented the first motion. He said the time had come to talk of adjournment. Mears said it was all old stuff. That it would mean stopping the clock and then staying as long after that as necessary to finish up.

Hall said that if the house would cut out unimportant bills it could get thru in time. Keck wanted to know who was to pick out the important bills. Bock said that he would be ready to quit after the appropriation bills had been put thru. 'Gara said that some of the members need to stop their own clocks. Two years ago it was April 28th before the curtain went down, and eighteen house members had gone home before that.

Hardin said that only a few important bills had been disposed of, and that others equally important were yet to be acted on. He objected to Garber's motion to name a sifting committee because it would produce hard feelings when a committee starts to picking and choosing where every member thinks his own bill important.

Collins suggested that each member appoint himself a committee of one to keep his mouth shut on any bill he did not know anything about. Jacoby demanded to konw by what right Garber, who introduced no bills wanted to sit on other member's bills.

Garber retorted hotly, and the speaker called for order. Jacoby wanted to know why the speaker picked on him, and the speaker said it was because he is the chief offender.

Both motions were tabled.

The house began the morning with the singing of "America," a quartet doing the leading.

THE "HONEYMOONERS"

By Fay Stevenson

Evelyn Bowers, a society girl about to make her debut, elopes with Stanley Willows, a bank clerk, on the eve of her debutante party. Evelyn is an orphan who makes her home with a dowager aunt who has planned to marry her off to a typical society chap. When her aunt, Mrs. Pennington Bowers, learns of her secret marriage to young Willows, she immediately disinherits her and leaves the young couple to themselves. But after all, this is what the newlyweds desired. Begin this story and see how a girl who has been reared with a silver spoon in her mouth can adapt herself to a new life when love calls.

The Elopement.

Evelyn Bowers made up her mind when she was eighteen that she would never marry a so-called "society man." She had seen too many teas and lived from "dad's income," and she decided that when she married she would select a man who went to business every day and had something else to do besides making love and buying new clothes or perhaps attending a horse or dog show.

Evelyn lived in a big white stone house just opposite Central Park. She had been an orphan ever since she was a tot of six and lived with her aunt, Mrs. Pennington Bowers, otherwise known as the "Dowager Bowers, keeper of the Blue Book of society." Mrs. Pennington Bowers was president of the leading women's clubs, leader of the welfare organizations, and presided over every dinner-dance and worth-while debutante party in town.

When, therefore, this great woman of society and promoter of higher ideals learned that her niece had married a bank teller her heart sank. The girl eloped on the eve of her debut. She was hopeless, impossible, absolutely incorrigible, and her aunt was thru with her for life. Not only did this fastidious woman disinherit her niece, but she even gave it out that any of her friends who permitted the new "Mrs. Willows" to enter society life on the ground of her former social standing need no longer enter her doors.

But Stanley Willows and his bride did not wish entry to society's doors. They had all they could do to struggle along on a bank teller's small salary. They had books, the theaters and each other. They had a world of their own, and despite the dowager's commands Evelyn's best chums all came to see her, tho they had to climb three flights to reach her modest little apartment on Washington Heights.

The Willows were known as "The Honeymooners" by all their friends. Theirs had been a case of first love from the beginning and neither station nor rank could keep them apart. Evelyn first met Stanley Willows when she deposited money weekly in a downtown bank. Altho Mrs. Pennington Bowers had a social secretary, she left the handling of her money to Evelyn. Because the dowager intended to leave everything to her niece she had an idea that this money training was the best thing in the world for her. And so it was, for it was the first opportunity Evelyn had to meet men outside her own social circle.

Evelyn and Stanley Willows exchanged pleasant remarks once a week until they began to know each other quite well. Then, one day Stanley invited Evelyn to go to luncheon with him, and six months later they were married. Evelyn phoned her aunt immediately after the ceremony, but when the dowager finally grasped the truth Evelyn heard a heavy thud over the wire and then dead silence. Later she learned that her aunt had fainted and the next morning the papers told her that she was disinherited and left to the sole support of the "bank teller."

"From a silver spoon to one from the five and ten," one yellow paper announced, and Stanley and his wife burst into laughter.

"That's about it," agreed the happy bridegroom as he drew Evelyn to him. "I was going to suggest that you meet me at noon and we fit up our kitchenette with junk from the five and ten cent store. We've got to get an apartment at once before this hotel takes all my salary."

The Shopping Tour.

Mrs. Stanley Willows met her husband at a very popular priced restaurant just around the corner from Mr. Willow's bank. It was just 12:30 and Evelyn enjoyed watching the hungry business girls rush into the restaurant by twos and threes, and now and then a stenographer with her "boss" or "gentleman friend." This was an entirely new experience to a society girl. Luncheon to Evelyn meant going up to an expensive tea room or some very exclusive hotel. Here one ordered at one's leisure and listened to strains of subdued music. Luncheon to these girls was a matter of twenty minutes and listening to the clatter of dishes and oodles of gossip about "him" and what "he said."

Presently Evelyn saw Stanley coming toward her. He held his head high in the air and wore his gray fedora squarely on his head, which was the one detail Evelyn demanded from the man she married.

"Been waiting long?" he asked, leading her to the only two vacant seats in view.

"No! half long enough," she responded. "I've been having the time of my life watching these girls and gathering fragments of their conversation. Stanley, dear, I'm just beginning to live!"

They ordered a simple luncheon and then hurried to the 5- and 10-cent store to fit out their kitchen.

"We're certainly the most practical newlyweds on earth," chuckled Stanley. "Whoever heard of getting coffee pots and butter plates before the parlor suite?"

"Or the apartment," added Evelyn.

"That will be attended to this evening, dearest," he returned. "Didn't I say we couldn't stand the hotel bill but a few days longer?"

"Oh, we could on a pinch," consoled Evelyn. "I had $120 in my vanity bag when we eloped and I have a checking account of $500, so we won't actually get in debt."

"But I won't touch my bride's fortune since she has been disinherited," he laughed. "Besides I have $2,200 in the savings bank but I don't intend to stop my interest, dear. Your husband is too good a business man for that."

They were in front of the counter where one buys salt and pepper cellers now and Evelyn gave her full attention to purchasing for her future apartment. It was great fun picking out the bright, shiny new household utensils and when Stanley and Evelyn emerged from the store they had great armfuls of packages.

"I'm going to hop on the subway and see you home," Stanley volunteered. "I spoke to the vice president and he said I might have an extra hour."

A few minutes later they were standing at the door of their hotel room. They unlocked it, deposited their "kitchen junk" on the bed and stood with their arms about each other looking down at the beginning of the new home.

"Well darling till six-thirty," he said, kissing her goodby, and Evelyn was left alone for a few hours.

WIFE ACCEPTS EXPLANATION

MRS. MITCHELL THOUGHT TO HAVE BELIEVED "MARSHALL."

Servants at Philadelphia Home of Mitchells Declared Both Master and Mistress in the House.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—Mrs. J. Kearsley Mitchell has accepted her millionaire husband's explanation of his relations with Dorothy King, "Broadway butterfly," according to indications today.

Husband and wife are believed to have spent the night under the same roof in Mitchell's Rittenhouse square mansion—following a family conference at White Marsh, the country residence of E. T Stotesbury, wealthy father-in-law of Mitchell.

Servants said this morning that both their master and mistress were in the house The place was alive with activity. Flunkeys were hurrying about, a janitor was polishing a brass rail at the front steps, and fresh flowers in vases were placed in the windows.

The key to the reconciliation of the Mitchells is their two children, fourteen-year-old Frances and little Jackie. Their love for their father probably will assist greatly in drawing together any breach that may have been opened by revelation of the millionaire's friendship for Miss King, who, authorities believe, was chloroformed by blackmailers when she refused to assist in a plot against Mitchell.

The homecoming of Mrs. Mitchell, who started from Palm Beach to meet her husband as soon as she heard of his trouble was featured by much mystery and maneuvering of detectives.

So far as can be ascertained, after many ruses, Mitchell actually boarded the private car and met his wife in the Philadelphia railroad yards. The car was uncoupled from the train and rushed by a switch engine to another station where the principals entered a limousine and drove to White Marsh. Detectives guarded every entrance to the estate.

Later a machine with drawn curtains left the estate and dashed to the Mitchell home in Rittenhouse Square. Police were on watch in front of the house, holding back a crowd. A man and a woman said to be Mr. and Mrs Mitchell left the car and ran into the house.

Daugherty to See Pecora.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Draper Daugherty, son of the attorney general has agreed to come to Assistant District Attorney Fred Pecora's office this afternoon and tell him what he knows about the Dorothy King case, Pecora stated today.

The exact hour at which the young man will appear has not been fixed as yet, but it probably will be late in the day.

Daugherty, according to a published interview which was brought to Pecora's attention was friendly with the "Broadway butterfly" who was found chloroformed in her apartment March 15. However, there was nothing about their friendship which Daugherty desired to conceal. A blackmailer telephoned Daugherty and threatened to reveal his acquaintance with the model, the interview said. Daugherty, having nothing to hide, defied the blackmailer.

Pecora believes that if the young man will supply the name of the person who telephoned, it may be the connecting link that will lead to arrest of the blackmailing gang which is suspected of having slain Miss King because she refused to go in their plot against J. Kearsley Mitchell, Philadelphia millionaire.

With regard to reports that E. T. Stotesbury, wealthy father-in-law of Mitchell, would come here to aid in clearing up the mystery, Pecora said that he had no word from Stotesbury but if the latter desired to confer with him he would be glad to receive him at any time.

BLOW AT SUICIDE THEORY

State Contends Fritzi Mann's Hands Were Folded When Body Was Found.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 28.—Striking its last blow at the defense's suicide theory of the death of Fritzi Mann, the state today opened its case against Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, accused by a grand jury of the murder of the dancing girl.

Thru Coroner Cuyler C. Kelly, Claude Chase and other witnesses, District Attorney Chester C. Kempley and his assistant, Guy Selleck, sought to establish that the dead girl's hands were carefully folded when the body was found in the sand at Torrey Pines beach, January 15.

This was the first brought by the prosecution in its efforts to prove that murder was committed.

John P. Chase, who was picnicking on the beach with his family, first noticed the body, he testified, when some children called it to his attention.

Discovery of the girl's scattered belongings, including some of her clothes, her vanity case and other personal effects, was described by the witness.

SAYS HOLDUPS BEAT HIM

Alleged Victim of Yeggs and Drink Faces Judge With Badly Battered Face.

Art Suiter, fifty-two years old, of College View, faced Police Judge Chappell Wednesday morning on a charge of drunkenness. He paid a fine of $10 and costs. One of his eyes was black and swollen and there were bruises about his face. He told the court that he drank a little liquor and went to bed at 728 P street. Two men entered his room, knocked him dizzy and went thru his pockets, according to his story. They obtained a little change. At about 2 a. m. Wednesday State Sheriff Carroll, Deputies Schmitt and Longstreth, and Detective Rymer entered the place and took Mr. Suitor into custody.

Passengers arriving in New York from abroad are practically permitted to write their own prescriptions for a quart of liquor, twice as much as an American physician could prescribe for them, under an order of the surveyor of the port.

BODY OF BERNHARDT PLACED IN COFFIN

Funeral Service to Be Held at Church of St. Francis de Sales—Temporary Burial in Pere La Chaise.

PARIS, March 28.—Hundreds of love letters were found today hidden away in the casket which Sarah Bernhardt had prepared for death thirty years ago. Relatives of the actress, in making the casket ready to contain her body, came upon them. Many were from unknown worshippers.

PARIS, March 28.—The body of Sarah Bernhardt was placed in the remodeled rosewood coffin which she had held in readiness for death for thirty years.

The funeral services will begin at 8 a. m. tomorrow when the procession will accompany the body from the residence to the church of St. Francis de Sales, where the beloved French artist worshiped.

The formal rites of Catholic church will be read there and then, at 11, it is planned to conduct the funeral cortege to the famous burial ground, Pere La Chaise, where hundreds of France's most distinguished heroes lie. Later the body may be removed to Belle Isle, where a vault will be prepared on the spot Bernhardt selected as a final resting place.

A hundred women, grieved at the death of their beloved Bernhardt, rushed at police stationed at the door of her home this morning. They wanted the last chance to see her before the body was placed in the casket. Police were forced to refuse.

"QUEEN" NOT TO TAKE STAND

Wife of "King" Benjamin Purnell Ill and Defense Counsel Not to Call Her.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 28.—Mary Purnell will not take the stand in defense of her husband, "King" Benjamin Purnell, in the $80,000 damage suit brought against him by John W. Hansel, Nashville, it was learned here today.

Mrs. Purnell disappeared yesterday and her whereabouts are unknown except to H. T. Dewhirst, defense counsel, who says she is suffering from a cold. Dewhirst intended to place Mrs. Burnell on the stand but admitted she will not now be called to testify.

It was reported that "King" Benjamin will testify in his own behalf, although his whereabouts still remain a mystery. Dewhirst refused to discuss whether he planned to produce Benjamin as a surprise witness. The "king" according to counsel for the plaintiff is the only person who can deny allegations of misconduct made against him and also help Judge John E Sater interpret the four volumes of the "Star of Bethlehem" and various books of the institution that have been introduced.

All Europe Aroused Over Sentence of Execution for Catholic Archbishop by Soviet.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., March 28.—The grand jury probing alleged jury fixing in the trial of Gov. Len Small suddenly switched its activities today to an investigation of charges that irregular methods were used by the prosecution to obtain a verdict of guilty.

State's Attorney A. V. Smith summoned three witnesses for questioning regarding reports that John Glaser, an investigator for the prosecution, sat within hearing of the jury trying Small and expressed the opinion the executive was guilty of charges of conspiracy to defraud the state.

Previously the grand jury probe had been directed toward uncovering evidence that the trial jury was "fixed" by friends of Small.

CONDITIONS ARE DANGEROUS

Building Inspector Sends Out Notices to Owners of Property Damaged by Fire.

F. J. Peck, city building inspector, has served notices on H. K. Burket, E. P. Leonard and the M. W. Folsom estate, owners of the Victoria hotel, that the present condition of the damaged building is dangerous and must be torn down. The inspector has served notice on E. E. Henkle, owner of the adjoining lot that the walls standing are dangerous and must be torn down. Only the rear wall of the Henkle block is still standing, but the east and west walls were party walls and this involves responsibility to the owner. The Henkle block was wiped out by fire a short time ago. The John W. McDonald estate, and the trustees, W. M. Leonard, Paul H. Holm and S. L. Geisthardt were served with a notice that the west wall of the block occupied by a furniture company is in an unsafe condition and should be torn down and rebuilt.

The owners or agents of the properties are given thirty days in which to act. The thirty days provision will give them, it is thought to permit insurance adjustments. Mr. Peck said that the hotel building cannot be repaired, if this were possible, because a building of that height in the business district must be fireproof. He considers the walls and the damaged hotel property in such shape that prompt action should be taken to remove the danger as quickly as possible. All of the properties involved are located on O near Fifteenth street.

The Double Wedding.

Muriel was not married in a white satin gown with a long train, wedding veil and orange blossoms. She preferred to have a simple church wedding and wear a brown tailored suit, a small toque to match and carry no flowers.

Lulu Rogers also wore a tailored suit, altho she broke the rules of etiquet by carrying a large bouquet of roses when attired for the street.

But there was the same contrast all the way thru the double wedding ceremony. Landis and Muriel were reserved, serious, a trifle inclined to avoid each other's eyes. Dr. Kent and Lulu were sentimental and constantly exchanged glances.

After the ceremony the doctor gathered Lulu in his arms and kissed her audibly. Landis gave Muriel a tiny bird peck kiss and after receiving a few congratulations from their most intimate friends the couple slipped out of the church thru a side entrance into a taxi.

"At last!" breathed Muriel.

"At last!" echoed Landis.

They were on their way to the Grand Central Station where they planned to take a train to Round Lake a quaint little village up state. Their honeymoon was to be but a few days, a mere week-end affair and then Landis must return to the city and his two positions. Muriel's parents had leased and furnished an apartment for them for six months, but after that they were to be on their "own hook," as Mr. Knowlton plainly expressed it.

Muriel decided to keep her position and help Landis for the first few years of their wedded life. The average bride returns to her desk today and both young people felt that they could meet under far more pleasant circumstances if Muriel returned from an office than if she had been cleaning and working about an apartment all day.

"Can you believe that we are actually on our honeymoon? Do you realize you are 'Mrs. Landis,' dearest?"

"Believe it, dear?" she replied. "Why you darling old thing, I've known we would marry ever since we first met!" The girl always knows. I think there's a feminine Cupid, a little Mrs. Nan Cupid, who works right along with old Dan, and while Dan is trying to hurry up the man and make him get on his knees to the girl, Mrs. Cupid sits on the shoulders of the bride-to-be and whispers little words of encouragement. Every girl knows a man is going to propose and that everything will be all right long before the man has an idea he is going to ask her to be his wife!"

"I didn't suppose you'd give up old Kent and all he offers just for me."

"Just for you! Just for love! Just for the rest of our days! Why, Garry dear, I only became engaged to Dr. Kent to make you jealous!"

"And you knew we were going to marry right along?"

"Mrs. Cupid frequently told me so. But really dear, to be serious I knew you. I knew your heart and my heart. That's a woman's natural intuition. I knew we would never be happy any other way. There's only one Muriel Knowlton and one Garrison Landis in the world and they were made for each other!"

"And because Mr. and Mrs. Cupid had their way Mr. and Mrs. Landis are going to be the happiest couple in the world," smiled the bridegroom as their taxi swung into the station and they shook the rice and confetti from their baggage.

THE END

Police business was slack for the day, which drew forth comment from the reporters on that run. The blood hounds had nothing to do for some time.

As the war loomed near, Lieutenant R. H. Townley, daily looked for a call.

Otto Anderson, fireman of the state university, was given a birthday surprise party by the North Star relief society and presented with a gold watch and chain.

SOUND TESTIMONIAL EVIDENCE

showing the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women is constantly being published in this paper. The strongest recommendation any article can have is that borne by the persons who use it. Once ill with ailments that caused suffering and despair, but now restored to the joys of health, from a grateful heart multitudes of women write letters of appreciation to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass. Such evidence of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women should induce every suffering woman to try it.—Advertisement.

LATE NEWS OF YESTERDAY

ELKS HEAR ABOUT STATE INSTITUTIONS

L. C. Oberlies Gives Talk on the Business and Humanitarian Side of the Various Homes for Unfortunate.

"The Business and Humanitarian Sides of the State Institutions" was the subject chosen by L. C. Oberlies in his talk to the Elks at their weekly dinner at the club house Tuesday night. He painted a word picture of the help which the state is giving the unfortunate inmates thru the medium of its institutions and dwelt on the need of proper legislation to prevent the marriage and consequent increase of the feebleminded.

The meeting was presided over by H. R. Kelso, exalted ruler of the local lodge. Mr. Murphy, a visiting Elk, who is playing an engagement at a local theater, gave two vocal solos. The meeting was attended by about sixty Elks.

In his address Mr. Oberlies said: "The average business man is ignorant of the inside workings of the state institutions. The total population of the seventeen institutions is 6,134 at the present time, not including about a thousand attendants. This small army of inmates must be looked after in every way by the board of control. Everything from the milk of the babies to the shrouds for the dead must be provided for. For example, it take from three to three and a half tons of tobacco every four months. Seven tons of beans and thirty-five tons of sugar are used every quarter. If they wish to serve shelled peas at Ingleside, they must have a barrel full for just one meal.

"Of all inmates, about 4,500 are feeble minded or insane. One of the crying needs today is to secure eugenic laws that would prevent the feeble minded from marrying and having children which are, in almost every instance, also feeble minded. The number in the average normal family is four and two-fifths persons while the average among the feeble minded is seven and two-tenths.

"Many institutions are more for reform than for punishment. In several the inmates are taught various trades in order that they may become useful members of society when they are discharged. At one home for girls, a careful check on the girls after they are discharged, has revealed the fact that 85 per cent have been saved for a life of usefulness and respectability.

"The number of charges at the home for the blind is decreasing. This is attributed to the greater scientific knowledge in the care and treatment of defective and diseased eyes, particularly at the time of birth. The national law now provides that the eyes of infants must be treated with a silver solution when born."

AUTOIST STRUCK BY TRAIN

Tecumseh Man Hurled from Truck and Narrowly Escapes Death at Road Crossing.

TECUMSEH, Neb., March 27.—Adolph Albert, thirty-year-old Johnson county bridge laborer narrowly escaped death, when he was thrown twelve feet and severely cut and bruised about the head, hands and chest, as the county auto truck which he was driving, shot directly in front of Burlington east bound passenger train No. 42. The accident occurred as the train stopped for the station here Monday afternoon. The engine struck the truck directly back of the driver's seat and hurled it clear of the tracks. Albert alighted in soft dirt. It is said his view was somewhat obscured by loads of baggage and express standing on the station platform awaiting loading on the train.

HOUSE PASSES HIGHWAY BILL

PROVISIONS UNSATISFACTORY TO A LARGE NUMBER.

Sets Forth Not More Than Twenty-five Per Cent of Highway Budget for State Road System.

By a vote of 53 to 42 the house Tuesday passed H. R. 180 which, as amended, provides that the budget for the state highway system in counties shall not exceed 25 per cent of all the motor vehicle taxes collected in the county. It further provides that 50 per cent of the remainder shall be placed to the credit of the general county road fund and the balance to the credit of the road dragging fund. Three and one-half per cent of the grand total is for administration of the law.

Objectors to the provisions of the bill contend that the provision for highway maintenance is inadequate and that whatever is lacking must be raised by general taxation. Under the present law not to exceed 75 per cent shall be used for maintenance of state roads, the unused portion goes to the county road dragging fund. It is claimed that 25 per cent of the license fees will be inadequate to maintain state roads in most of the counties. It is claimed by opponents of the bill that the farmer will suffer since he pays but [illegible] per cent of the auto license taxes altho he pays the lion's share of the general tax. Friends of the bill contend that its provisions will permit more attention to country roads leading to highways.

Ministers, charitable workers and others may ride on railroad passes or at reduced fare if they care to and the railroads permit it and the governor signs the bill. S. F. 63 has now made the grade in both legislative branches. The vote in the house was 64 to 27. Three members of the Lancaster delegation, Messrs. Green, Jacoby and Harrington voted against the bill altho Mr. Harrington [illegible] University Place [illegible] as a [illegible] Messrs. [illegible] voted [illegible] pass. Mr. Wilson [illegible] member of the delegation was absent.

The county judges salary bill, H. R. 201, [illegible] of the time [illegible]

made the grade when it breezed thru third reading, 62 to 25. Messrs. McCain and Ward, joint authors, started out to do a little reforming in a salary way. Their purpose was to lower salaries of judges in counties of under 2,000 from $800 to $400. To accommodate others, they permitted additions which for a time threatened to wreck the bill. As it passed the house, the measures fixes the following scale for counties of 16,000 and less:

Up to 2,000	$ 400
From 2,000 to 4,000	800
From 4,000 to 6,000	1400
From 6,000 to 16,000	1800

In counties of from 6,000 to 16,000 where the office fees amount to $3,500 or more annually, the salary to be $1,900. Under the present law the salary grouping is as follows:

Up to 3,000	$ 800
From 3,000 to 6,000	1500
From 6,000 to 16,000	1900

H. R. 231, by Broome and others, requiring butchers who purchase branded cattle to keep the hides for ten days and to report such transactions to the county clerk, made the grade after a long chain of difficulties.

A measure by Representative Timme, H. R. 441, requiring railroad companies to furnish adequate tools and appliances to employes was approved on third reading, 89 to 4. The house killed S. F. 175, measure permitting the city of Fremont thru its council to meet an emergency and to abate a nuisance in connection with sewerage flowing into a creek. The vote was 42 to 53.

The house standing committees recommended for slaughter Tuesday H. R. 470. Strehlow's amendment to the constitution creating an executive council and H. R. 384. Jacoby's bill prohibiting any political subdivision from selling its bonds at less than par.

Farmer Victim of Clairvoyant.

BEATRICE, Neb., March 27.—Another farmer of this vicinity has complained to officials that he was the victim of Professor Anderson, clairvoyant, who recently left Beatrcie after fleecing residents of this vicinity of about $3,000. The latest victim to report states that he was induced to place $600 in a safety deposit box, Anderson securing possession of the same by switching packages, leaving a bundle which contained some magazine pages.

A warrant was sworn out for Anderson's arrest some days ago by D. E. Croth of this city, who lost $800, but Andersons whereabouts is not known.

Vern Smith Kearney Chief.

KEARNEY, Neb., March 27.—About a month ago Chief of Police Joe Morris tendered his resignation, to become effective April 10. Today he requested of the commission that they act on the resignation at once and name a successor, that he might be free to accept other positions tendered him. His request was granted. Vern Smith, veteran member of the Kearney force, was appointed chief. Morris had been chief of police for six years, under three city administrations.

CITY CLERK REFUSES TO FILE PETITION

Signers of Document Asking for Submission of City Manager Plan at Beatrice Do Not Want Identities Known.

BEATRICE, Neb., March 27.—City Clerk Leonidas Pelhoud has refused to certify to the city commissioners the petition recently filed asking that the commissioners submit the city manager form of government to the voters at a special election. The petition, with over three hundred signatures, was recently left with the clerk by a Mr. Gardner, who stated that the parties turning the same over to him had requested that their identity be not revealed to the city officials. He stated that he himself had not signed the petition and would not do so, and that he was not filing the papers.

The clerk now holds that the filing, under the circumstances, is not legal. He asserts that the promoters of the movement can get action appearing personally or by action in mandamus. The commissioners however are ready to call the special election and let the people decide whether or not they desire a change.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW.

Former residents of Nebraska who are now living in San Diego, Cal., and who are members of the Nebraska society of San Diego, were the hosts last week to Senator and Mrs. Norris who are touring the state in the interest of the Boulder dam appropriation. More than fifty former Nebraskans were present. Senator Norris spoke on the Imperial Valley and the effect the building of the dam would have. Mrs. Norris also made a brief speech.

Members of the Victorian chautauqua circle entertained at dinner for their husbands Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Woodward, 2412 Ryons street. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock at two large tables, each arranged for fifteen. A color scheme of green and yellow was carried out in the decorations and in the menu. Daffodils formed the centerpieces and the nutcups and candies corresponded. After dinner the men put on a program under the leadership of L. C. Oberlies. A burlesque on a meeting of the chautauqua circle formed the entertainment.

Mafa dancing club entertainted at an attractive party Monday evening at Rosewilde for fifty-six couples. Two favor dances were featured, one a "date dance" and the other a "twilight dance." Easter suggestions predominated in the decoration. Punch and wafers were served during the evening. Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Carothers of Lincoln and A. Coatesworth and Mrs. P. C Hyson of Omaha were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Holland and two little sons will leave Lincoln soon to make their home in Omaha. Mr. Holland is president of the Holland Lumber company and will assume management of the lumber business in Omaha. Mrs. Holland is a former Omaha girl and was Miss Louise Bedwell before her marriage.

Business women's league will meet Thursday noon on the east balcony at the chamber of commerce. Mrs B. F. Williams will explain the community chest plan. Members may bring a guest.

"The Fine Art of Selling One's Self" was the subject chosen by George F. Burt in his talk before the Men's club of the First Congregational church at Havelock at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night. The club was also entertained by music by a double quartet led by Professor E. S. Luce. A vocal solo was sung by Frank Fedaler.

Leo Stuhr of Grand Island, formerly secretary of the department of agriculture, was in Lincoln Tuesday. He is content to watch from afar the legislature struggle with the code bill, but is satisfied that in a few years the legislators will regret any tearing down that is done now.

MERE MENTION.

Mrs. Nellie C. Williams filed suit Tuesday afternoon in district court asking a divorce from George W. Williams. It is alleged that they were married in Lancaster county June 18, 1919, and that they began married life on a farm adjoining that of the father of the defendant at Creighton; that some time thereafter it was decided that the farming operations of the defendant should be stopped in order to preserve the best interests of the married life of Mrs. Williams and her husband, and that he took her to University Place to make the home, returning to Creighton to settle up his affairs. It is charged he did not return to his wife. There is one child, of which the mother asks custody.

The price of butter fat in Lincoln is very nearly 50 per cent higher than it was a year ago. "We are paying 48 cents per pound to farmers for butter fat today as compared with a price of 33 cents per pound a year ago," said C. M. Carney of The Lincoln Pure Butter company. The production is about 10 per cent lighter than a year ago and the season is nearly thirty days later but the principal reason for the advance, in Mr. Carney's opinion, is the increase in demand. The country is more prosperous and more people can afford butter. Due to the late season, farmers have had to feed the cows longer this year. At this time last year pastures were green and cattle were grazing.

Harold L. Blumenthal, commonly called Harry, twenty-two years old, pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon before District Judge Stewart to a charge of forging a check on Miller & Paine's for $12. The coutr suspended sentence until Wednesday with a view to making an investigation before extending the clemency asked by Attorney Richard O. Johnson, and B. B. Uhran, the boy's uncle. The defendant's father is H. O. Blumenthal, in the silk business in New York city. It was asserted that if the judge would suspend sentence and allow the boy's uncle to take him back to New York, young Blumenthal would assuredly sin no more. The youth assured the judge that this was the first spurious check he had passed. His honor held the case open, saying that it was too serious a matter to take in a trival way.

SMOOTH FOR BANKING BILL

SENATE THUS FAR ACCEPTS COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS.

Conservation Fund to Aid Failing Banks—Meets With No Immediate Opposition.

The senate spent two hours Tuesday afternoon in committee of the whole with H. R. 272, the much discussed bill amending the bank guaranty law. The standing committee amendments which are said to be pleasing to friends of the original house bill had been incorporated in the house bill and the whole printed as a substitute bill. The new matter inserted by the committee was indicated by italics and the matter stricken out by the committee is shown by erased type. In this form the changes proposed by the senate committee on banking are easily understood.

Cooper of Douglas offered the only important amendment. It was voted down, indicating that nothing except changes authorized by the banking committee are likely to meet with the senate's approval. Cooper proposed to change that part of section 20 which says the court shall direct the guaranty fund commission to proceed to liquidate an insolvent bank's affairs as provided by law "thru a receiver to be named by such commission."

Cooper desired to add to this the words, "or by the court in its discretion."

Thielen and Smrha of the banking committee opposed on the ground that this amendment would defeat the entire work of the banking committee in the formation of machinery designed to prevent waste of the assets of a failed bank. The Cooper amendment was defeated. Bliss, chairman of the banking committee at first said he saw no harm in the Cooper amendment, but later, after considering it, also opposed its adoption.

Cooper also suggested fixing some definite amount for attorney's fees but Bliss stated that so many different kinds of litigation might be necessary that it would be difficult to make a definite fee.

Thielen's amendment to be added to section 20, relating to naming of a receiver was adopted. It says: "Provided the court may authorize the guaranty fund commission to continue such bank as a going concern under section 18, without obtaining the consent of the stockholders of such bank."

The senate committee on revenue and taxation held a hearing Tuesday afternoon and listened to Spanish-American war soldiers who had volunteered in one or more of the three regiments which Nebraska furnished during that war.

Otto Meier of Lincoln spoke in a similar vein, but said his comrades had taken no part in the bonus agitation and are not committed on the advisability of a state bonus.

MERE MENTION.

Stella Murdock, a waitress who gave her age as twenty-eight, was picked up by State Probation Officer Harmon at 7:40 p. m. Tuesday and booked at the police station on a charge of violating her parole from the state reformatory for women at York. She will be taken back to York Wednesday morning.

George Donnelly filed suit Tuesday afternoon in district court for a divorce from June E. Donnelly, alleging that the defendant has been guilty of such extreme cruelty that she has made it undesirable for him to live longer with her. They were married June 7, 1922, at Brownville. The husband asks that his wife be restrained from using his checking account, or his credit.

Ethel Brown, colored, pleaded innocence when arraigned before Justice of Peace W. T. Stevens Tuesday afternoon on a peace warrant. The trial will be heard at 10 a. m. March 31. The defendant is under a peace bond of $200. The complaint was filed against her by Charles Campbell and it alleges that the plaintiff has reason to fear that the defendant will beat, strike and wound him and destroy his furniture, clothing and property.

A verdict in favor of the county was returned Tuesday afternoon in district court in the case brought by the Coca Cola Bottling works against Lancaster county. The plaintiff alleged that negligence on the part of the defendant caused an accident at an east O street bridge, which damaged one of the plaintiff's trucks. It was claimed that poor construction of the approach to the bridge was to blame. The county's defense was that if the driver of the truck had had his auto under control he would not have struck the bridge-head.

A gang of unidentified men attacked Elgin Lapp, as he was driving thru Lakeview at 10:30 p. m. Tuesday. They hurled some bricks, one of which passed thru the glasses of both doors of Mr. Lapp's coupe, showering the occupants with broken glass. No one was seriously injured, the three occupants escaping with minor scratches. Driver Wait and Officer Stearns drove out to the scene with Mr. Lapp in an endeavor to apprehend the brick wielders, but were unable to locate anyone. No motive for the attack is known.

These Girls too Ill to Attend School

DAUGHTER OF MRS. VLIEGHER
NORTH BALTIMORE, OHIO

AT no age does a young girl need greater care than from the time she reaches the age of twelve years until womanhood is established. Many a woman has suffered years of misery because as a girl she has been allowed to sit around with wet feet, lift heavy articles, overwork and overstudy. In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It is a root and herb medicine, contains nothing harmful and may be taken in perfect safety by any school girl.

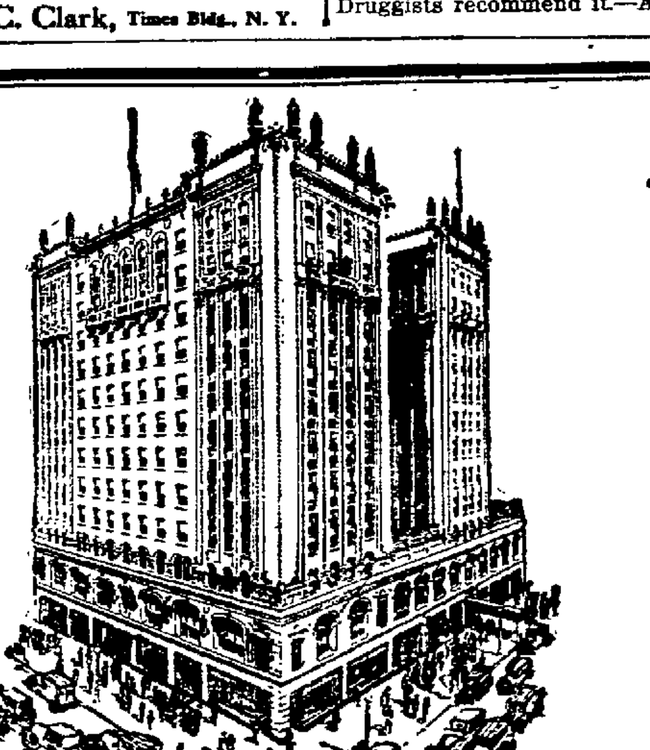

This Mother's Letter and Daughter's Photograph of Interest to Every American Mother

NORTH BALTIMORE, OHIO.—"My fourteen-year-old daughter took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound every month for weakness. One of her classmates in school who had the same trouble told her about it. She said: 'My mother makes me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So that day she came home and told me and we got some the next day. She took three bottles of it and never has to stay home from school now from sickness. She is strong and well. I am sure if any mother writes to me I will be glad to answer her letter."—MRS. VLIEGHER, Box 61, North Baltimore, Ohio.

Another Mother Tells What It Did for Her Daughter

DANDRIDGE, TENN.—"My daughter was not able to go to school for almost a year because of pains in her side and other troubles girls often have. I was just studying one day what I could give her that would [illegible] her when I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided I would get it for her. Since taking it she has gained to normal weight and goes to school all the time."—MRS. GEORGE HINCHEY, Dandridge, Tenn.

Your Problems
BY MARY GORDON

Dear Mary Gordon and others: In regard to the kiss as Jess speaks of. The french officer he says kisses his soldier when giving honors what does he do it for because he means to say, "May you remain loyal and true to your country forever." It's a sort of watch word. Between mother and son, "May the Lord watch between me and thee while we are absent one from another." Between two girls it means these things and our sincerity to each other. And so on it goes. When given between a girl and boy or man and woman the result will be the same.

If the young man has made up his mind that he wants the girl to be loyal, true and sincere with him why not ask her if she cares to be so loyal. In other words ask her to wear his ring and be plain. If he wishes to go among other girls to pick and choose then he should not ask for the kiss. These kisses of respect will lead to broken hearts, girls and boys. Of course there are a few of the kinds of boys and also girls that are so course that kisses and love are not covered with them I'm glad I never kept company with that kind and my daughter has not either. Altho I know of one young man she did kiss and that's why the subject appeals to me now. He was a dear honest boy. Loved her sincerely I know but a boy nineteen and a girl seventeen are too young for these sort of understandings. She did not love him as much as he did her.

She struggled and struggled hard to jilt him but the good night kiss left that love tie. Finally after studying the case carefully I simply broke up their companionship. In 4 weeks she found interest and happiness in her more boy friends that doesn't kiss. He also found other friends. Both are happy now. I expect to give my daughter a Uni education, which will take almost 5 yrs. He expects to marry sooner. I knew she liked other boy friends manners and ways better also knew she was quite independent. He was not her first beau. I could not account for the weakness on her part to jilt him.

So I played little mouse and found that the tie was the good night kiss in the right place. Yes girls permit the kiss if you believe in the man. Care to love no other. But don't be kissing just to hear the smack. In regard to Lincoln and his floor scrubber. Be careful Lincoln the girls basket ball is splendid But the woman that scrubs floors on her knees. That raves because the bread burned because the cake fell because the soup boiled over because husband was late so she couldn't wash the dishes by clock work. That washes on Mon morning rain or shine. That irons Tues regardless of sick neighbors or sick babies.

If I pick out my daughter-in-law I want the kind that can mop with a lick and promise play basket ball, talk along educational lines music, literature, America's problems boil and broil mend, sew and darn. But none of these sit in the halls and cry and get on her knees and scrub kind. That love the ukulele players or dreamers of various kinds.

No I'd get a real gold digger that appreciated the sweat on your brow. That could mop the floor with a mop. Wait on sick friends meet you with a smile. Let you walk thru the house with muddy shoes. Throw your dirty clothes down any place, keep clear from these girls that love dreamers that can keep house just so and put their spare time in on writing love letters to imaginary persons. I don't say that your floor scrubber does all these but that type often do these things.—A Reader.

A. I'm sure many of our readers would like to know how you went about to "break up" the affair you disapproved of.

You're right about the ideal wife. I hope Lincoln takes what you say to heart.

Come again.

Dear Mary Gordon: Your answers to E. H. W. in issue of 3-21—about giving up seats in street cars to women—needs some amendments—"you have a contempt for the man who lets a woman stand." I have a greater contempt for the young woman who will accept the seat of a man several years her senior. There is a large number of young women who do office work—mostly sitting down—and others who have been to the movies ride the six o'clock cars who should have been home. I have seen men who have done hard labor—carrying dinner pails—give their seats to "chickens"—and they took them as a divine right— any girl or woman who accepts the seat of a working man her senior lacks the fine principles of a good woman. I am fifty years young—any woman with a baby—any person with gray hair—either sex always had my seat—but no hand painted doll—no movie fan gets my seat—they all stand for me.—Old Crab.

Moral—get home before six bells—help mother get supper.

A. I admit I'm old-fashioned regarding seats in street cars. But don't think that the girl who has been "sitting all day in an office" is not as tired as the husky man who has been on his feet eight or nine hours. I plead guilty to accepting seats from working men my seniors (on the occasions when they're offered) but I will say I wouldn't allow a G. A. R. man to stand in my stead.

Your viewpoint regarding the movie crowd is quite common among men. Can't say I blame you. The other day a young man told me he always yields his seat to an elderly woman or a girl who looks as if she might be a worker. But he never gets up for "one of those darned club women who wait downtown for the five o'clock cars when they could take an earlier one."

Dear Mary Gordon: We are two girls, sixteen and eighteen, and are coming to you for advice, as your advice seems better than anyone else's. Now a few questions:

Is it wrong for us to go to a young mans' home, when it is in a distant town? We have done this and they want us to come again and we are in doubt as to whether we should or not.

Also is it considered improper to go with boys that work with a bridge gang, etc., when you are not introduced to them?

Is it wrong to go with these boys against our parents will. They are nice boys as we have gone with them a time or two.

Thanking you in advance for your best advice.—Curly Bobs.

A. If the young men's mothers invite you to their homes, it is all right to go.

No more improper to go with bridge gang men than any other kind you haven't met. But it's really awfully common to "pick up" acquaintances—degrades you in their estimation as well as all other people.

Aren't there some boys in your home town just as nice as these unintroduced strangers? I wouldn't go contrary to my parents' wishes in the matter. Really, they know best. Please be nice girls and do as they wish.

Dear Mary Gordon: It has been quite awhile since I've written to you—I think you are wonderful to be able to answer the questions which people ask of you. I always read your interesting column, some letters I cannot figure out how you can find an answer. Sappho's letter for example and lots of others I could never find words or arrange them as you do; to say nothing of placing them in print.—Dumb Belle.

A. Thanks for the kind words—it's no easy matter, I admit, to answer some of the questions put to me. Takes a lot of thought—sometimes I have to puzzle for hours over a problem. Then, usually as I'm walking home from the office, the solution flashes itself at me.

Candy Eggs for Easter.

In making candy eggs, almost any mixture that can be made to hold shape is used and is afterward coated with either chocolate or plain icing. In making homemade candies, closely following the recipe is the only sure means of success.

CREAM EGGS.

Three mixtures are used for making the cream eggs, the first the

COCOANUT CREAM.

Remove the shell and pare the meat of cocoanut; grate. Before opening the cocoanut, puncture one of the eyes and drain off the milk.

Place the grated cocoanut in large mixing bowl and add the milk (there should be two-thirds cup of cocoanut milk; if not, add sufficient water).

1 teaspoon of cream of tartar.
White of one egg.

Add slowly, while whipping the mixture with wooden spoon, sufficient confectioners' XXXX sugar to make a mixture that is stiff enough to handle and hold its shape; this usually requires about three pounds of sugar.

Cover the bowl with cloth and let stand one hour to ripen, and then shape into eggs, roll in mixture prepared as follows:

Place in bowl

½ cup of cornstarch,
1 cup of confectioners' sugar.

Sift twice to blend.

Roll the prepared eggs in this mixture and set outside to dry and become firm, and they are now ready to coat with chocolate or the dainty colored icings.

Lift a Piano to the Top of Washington Monument

And you do just a little more work than the elevating machinery of a cement plant does in the course of manufacturing a barrel of portland cement.

In a typical plant, the materials for a 376-pound barrel of cement—which weigh more than twice that to start with—have to be elevated fifteen times to heights ranging from 20 to 90 feet in going through the more than eighty operations between raw materials and finished product.

Practically all of this lifting and carrying is nowadays done by mechanical conveyors. Many of these are very ingenious.

They may be endless chains of moving buckets that go trailing all about the plant, picking up and dropping different loads two or three times in the course of their journey. They may be wide belts. Or they may be huge "corkscrews" fitting snugly inside steel tubes and pulling the materials along as they turn.

One of these corkscrews may be 100 feet long; one of the belts a quarter of a mile long.

In a medium sized plant—one with a million barrels capacity a year—an investment of more than a quarter of a million dollars is necessary for machinery that does nothing but carry and lift.

Conveying and elevating are among the great variety of operations in cement making.

Good Night Stories

A FUNNY LITTLE NEIGHBOR.

"WELL, of all things!" exclaimed Busy Ant, as she came upon the queer-looking, little, fat, round, white fellow. "What in the world are you, and how did you happen in my house?"

"Don't ask me," grumbled the little, round, fat, white worm-like creature. "I don't know anything—not supposed to know anything, I guess—so I really haven't bothered my silly little head much about it. All I know is that I'm here and I'm beastly hungry."

Mrs. Busy Ant, who was noted for her good, kind heart, opened her store-room, and gave the little stranger a good dinner.

"You will excuse me if I stare at you," she said good-naturedly. "It's because I've never seen anything just like you before, and I am wondering how you came to be in my ant-hill, and when you came in."

"I never came in that I know of," replied the funny round, white, fat worm, shaking his funny little round pale brown head. "I just am here. I never came that I can remember."

"Well, now, that's queer!" sighed Mrs. Busy Ant. "I don't remember ever seeing you in here before."

"Goodness! That's not funny at all," said the funny little fat, round, white worm, "for I never knew I was here myself until a short time ago. It's a queer feeling not to know who or what one is. It really makes me quite dizzy." And he smacked his strong jaws and waved the five joints on his feelers.

"Yes, it must be sad," agreed Mrs.

"Well, Now, That's Queer!"

Busy Ant. "But I guess whoever put you here will come and get you one of these days."

"Get whom?" asked a rough voice, and Wiggly Worm wiggled through the dirt beside the two friends. "Who's coming for whom?"

"Why, this little fellow," replied Mrs. Busy Ant. "No one knows who or what he is."

"Well, I can relieve your minds on that," laughed Wiggly Worm. "His mother, Mrs. Rose-Beetle, brought her eggs one day while I was here, and left them—"

"Sure enough!" laughed Mrs. Busy Ant. "How stupid of me to forget! She left them in my care. Your name is Larva Rose-Beetle as sure as I'm alive. Your mother told me all about you. I remember she said you'd have to live under the ground three long years. Then at the end of that time you are to make yourself a round egg-shaped ball of leaves and grass into which you must crawl and go to sleep. And when you come out you'll have legs and wings."

"Well, then, I'm one of the family," exclaimed Larva Rose-Beetle. "I'm glad you're not going to kick me out."

"Indeed, no," laughed Mrs. Busy Ant, stroking the funny little brown head. "I promised your mother I'd see that you did what was right. Foolish of me not to know who you are!"

"Oh, don't worry about that," said Wiggly Worm. "We can't always know everything."

Grunting good-naturedly he wiggled away, and Mrs. Busy Ant and her new charge finished their dinner.

WORDS of WISE MEN

Welcome is the best dish on the table.

A cause that cannot stand defeat is not worth fighting for.

He who rises late may trot all day and not overtake his business.

If a man empties his purse into his head, no one can take it from him.

The surest proof of being endowed with noble qualities is to be free from envy.

The more fully you are right in a quarrel the easier you will find it to pardon.

Doubt is the vestibule which all must pass before they can enter into the temple of Wisdom.

To love for the sake of being loved is human—but to love for the sake of loving is angelic.

• • •

Discouragement is the worst misfortune that can befall a man. It is the death of his strength.

On the whole, there is only one person in the world toward whom it is safe to be always inflexible, and that is yourself.

The tragedy of our country, as of other lands, is that we often mean so extraordinarily well and do so extraordinarily badly.

True happiness, we are told, consists in getting out of one's self, but the point is not only should you get out, you must stay out, and to stay out, you must have some absorbing errand.

• • •

In order that people may be happy in their work these three things are necessary: They must be fit for it; they must not do too much of it, and they must have a sense of success in it.

• • •

Little books are read the most and little songs are the dearest loved. And when Nature would make anything especially rare and beautiful, she makes it little—little pearls, little diamonds, little dews.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Revelations of a Wife

The Name Grace Draper Irritatedly Spoke Which Brought a Hope to Madge.

THE engine of the big black limousine under George's directing hand put on a terrific burst of speed, and when it next slowed to a stop, Grace Draper's voice held exasperation.

"The blithering fools!" she said. "The gates are shut."

"Why shouldn't they be?" the big man demanded. "We shouldn't be anxious for visitors."

"Is that any reason why we should advertise the fact?" she retorted. "The gates inside, nearer the house, are locked, and we're certainly guarded heavily enough."

George had descended from the car and had taken a massive key from the hand of the big man. He now paused uncertainly.

"Shall I lock them again?" he asked.

"Who ordered them locked?" Grace Draper countered.

"Next to the Throne—"

"His Royal Highness, himself," the big man returned, and while I thought I detected a note of derision in his voice at the title, I also recognized distinct respect.

"Better lock them again, then," she agreed. "No use bucking that bird. He's next to the throne itself, the only one of the crowd who ever talks to the Inner Presence."

"Where does the Big Tangerine come in, then?" the big man asked, while George unlocked the gates.

"He doesn't come in with those two," Grace Draper replied, and I wondered at the irritated resentment in her tone. "He hasn't any higher rating or any more authority than I have, even if he does pose as the boss of the works. You'd better lock those gates while George takes the car through and we'll save a few seconds."

I mentally noted the fact that whatever Grace Draper's rank in the evil organization, whose power and ramifications Lillian evidently had not exaggerated—she was distinctly the superior officer of the present expedition. The big man obeyed her as a well-trained lackey might have done, and no more words were spoken while the car rolled over a smooth but winding road which I guessed led through the grounds of some big country estate.

Beneath the swathing folds of the blanket which Grace Draper had drawn over my face, I tried to compute the distance from the gate to the house by counting to myself. But I soon gave it up, for both the physical discomfort of the gag in my mouth, and the mental turmoil which the big man's mention of the Big Tangerine had set up in my brain, shut out everything else.

A Slender Reed.

"The Big Tangerine!" How well I remembered the bizarre phrase as it fell from Harry Underwood's lips, when I had driven him to Greenport after his masquerade as Don Alvarez, in the home of the Southampton war profiteer. Even now against my flesh inside my blouse I could feel the scarab which he had twisted from his tie and pressed into my hand with the injunction:

"If you ever get into a jam with a gang you don't know anything about, give this to the least offensive of them, preferably a woman, and tell her to give it to the Big Tangerine. I stand pretty well with him."

He had not explained his instruction further, and I had discounted it heavily because of his propensity for embellishing all his actions and words with a touch of theatricism. But I had kept the scarab upon my person ever since, urged thereto by some subconscious instinct of precaution of which I was now very glad.

It was a slender reed upon which to lean, but it was the only sign of help for me in any direction. The hope which had sprung into being with the noise of the motorcycle behind the car had died before we had finished the journey from the outer gates of the estate to which we had come. For there had been no further sound of the motorcycle engine, a fact upon which both Grace Draper and the big man had commented jubilantly. My fantastic conviction had meant nothing, after all. The men on the motorcycle had been travelers, nothing more, and had kept on the main road when we had turned to the less-traveled road.

I doubted much, however, if I would have a chance to give the scarab to any messenger. Grace Draper's personal malevolence toward me was so deadly a thing that I was afraid she meant to mount guard over me herself, if indeed she did not intend to put me beyond the necessity of guarding.

WHICH WAY TO RUN? :: By Juanita Hamel

SOMETIMES there lies in the heart of make-believe—in a masquerade perchance—a quality of reality that's hard to comprehend, though its power may be felt with disconcerting force. Where Mephistopheles steals upon her whom he has sought all evening, there leaps into her heart—though she knows who is chuckling behind the leering mask—a fear that makes her wish to spring to her feet and flee. But—HERE'S the problem—shall she flee from the mask, or to the heart she knows beats for her beneath the masquerader's robe?

Three-Minute Journeys

WHERE WOMEN CARRY EVEN THEIR SHOES ON THEIR HEADS.

IN many countries peasants carry bundles and baskets on their heads, but nowhere is the universal carrying on the head of all sorts of objects more common than it is in Oporto, Portugal.

A Woman of Oporto.

The traveler, upon landing in this home of port wine, is struck with this common practice as soon as his trunks have passed the customs. Here all the porters are women. It is nothing for one of these sturdy Portuguese women to lift a hundred-pound trunk on her head and carry it for a quarter of a mile without stopping.

A baby carriage to many a Portuguese mother would simply be a nuisance—if she happened to be one of these expert head-balancers.

It is no uncommon sight in Oporto to see a woman walking along the street with a round basket on her head. In the basket, sleeping peacefully, is her baby, soothed by the rhythmical step of its mother.

At noon, one sees women running hither and thither with small tin boxes balanced on their heads. These are the lunch boxes which are being carried to husbands, fathers or brothers—all balanced on their women's heads.

Many Oporto women become so expert in this art of head-juggling that they can carry a folded umbrella on their heads without the slightest effort. This is very difficult to do, but to the women of Oporto it is more convenient than carrying the umbrella in the hand. This performance looks simple enough in Oporto. But if you think it is easy, try it!

In many countries poor people carry their shoes in their hands, preferring to save them for town or for particularly rough places. This is common the world over.

But in Oporto it is amazing to see a woman walking along at a comfortable swinging gait in her bare feet—with her best shoes balanced carefully on the top of her head without any apparent effort or idea of the oddity of the performance.

Advice to Girls :: By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a man 18 years old. I have been calling on a girl for about sixteen months. She is one year my junior.

We have broken up once, and at this time she did not care for any young man.

There are some of our friends who don't like to see us together.

She tells me that she loves me, and that if I don't have her she does not care to have any other.

But at times she directs her attention toward other young men, and says that she does not mean anything by this.

Please tell me what to do. Shall I give up this girl? SHORTY BOY.

SHORTY BOY—There is no reason why you should give up this girl's friendship, but don't you think yourself that you are rather young to take any girl so seriously?

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.

YOUR HEALTH

What Science Does to Aid in "Petroleum Folliculitis"

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND

ON THE skin are little hairs, each of which is set in a canal or space called the hair follicle. While the follicle is usually well protected from outside communication, yet it is really a depression of the skin itself, dipping deep down into the tissues. Therefore, it is not free from the possibility of the admission of foreign material.

There is a disease of the hair follicle called "folliculitis," which simply means inflammation of the follicle. The particular form of folliculitis I am interested in today is given the special name of "lubricating oil acne," or "petroleum acne." Another and more common name is "oil lumps."

Workers in twine factories, spinning mills, engineering works or anywhere in contact with lubricating and crude oils, tar, pitch or other greases may have the trouble. It involves the unclothed portions of the skin—the arms, face and neck, although the fronts of the legs may be affected. If the clothing gets saturated with the oil the disease may involve any part of the body rubbed by the greasy clothing.

The skin surface may have innumerable elevations, each with a black cap, not unlike a blackhead. After a time each of these spots becomes a raised, hard lump, dark red in color. The swelling may be the size of a hempseed or as large as a pea. It grows larger, gets redder, suppurates and breaks, leaving a pitted scar.

The follicle fills up with oil, dirt and broken hairs. An inflammation is set up, and pretty soon the tissues around the follicle become involved. Later the condition is like a boil.

The petroleum softens the tissues and prepares the way for some pus-producing germ. Then the grease blocks up the canal and prevents free drainage.

There may be gradual increase in the size of the swelling. Perhaps weeks pass before it disappears. Other forms are more rapid in their development.

In any kind of calling when the skin gets smeared and covered with dirt and grease there should be protection and special efforts at cleanliness or this trouble will result. Of course, persons differ in susceptibility. There appears to be a chemical irritation of the skin in some cases. Whenever there is any tendency to "oil lumps" there must be protection of the skin by proper gloves or other means of keeping it free from grease.

In some factories a harmless ointment is smeared over the skin to protect it from the petroleum oil.

Frequent changes of overalls or dresses should be made. Cleanliness is of the greatest importance as a preventive of occupational skin trouble.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

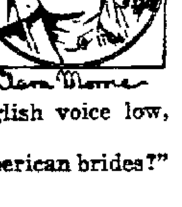

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, MARCH 29.

The astrological outlook for this day is rather disconcerting. While the disposition may be quick, alert and ready to take a chance, yet hostile forces may tend to rob initiative of its rightful compensation. There may be disturbing and perplexing influences to combat, and also the possible menace of loss by fire or theft. Guard all possessions and also look after the domestic circle, lest danger and discord creep in under the lunar affliction of Venus.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of disturbance and anxiety, especially in the domestic circle. There may be danger from fire and loss through theft, and all property should be guarded against these. The mind, however, may be found to be keen and clever, with the disposition toward unusual energy. A child born on this day is likely to be quick, talented, volatile, and may always feel the need to be always doing something. This may manifest especially in the resort to social pleasures and company.

CLARA MORRIS WRITES ABOUT Our Wedding Endurance Tests

AMONG my acquaintances is a plump, somewhat cocky little Englishwoman—"a middle-class woman," she calls herself. Now in addition to a liking for London, I have also a slight knowledge of my friend's own native city.

It was yesterday, that thrilled and silent we watched the splendor of a color conflagration burning down to a pathetic line of ashes of roses—weakly parting day from night.

A breath-long pause—and then came the mellow English voice low, unhurried:

"Er-er—I say now, er—what's the matter with the American brides?"

Yankee fashion, I answered:

"What is the matter with them?"

"Well," she laughed, "I've got a bit of a rise out of you anyway. Let me show you something."

I switched on the light and she drew from her bag, rolls of clipped pictures from papers, a few studio photographs. All were pictures of brides—each marked "English" or "American" as the case might be.

"Look at their faces. Our brides are all smiles, all—all—"

"Triumph," I slyly suggested.

The Martha Type

"Quite so. Happy they are, anyway, all of them. But these American brides—look—they haven't one smile to share among them. Their fingers barely touch the groom's arm—see! They look steadily ahead—some almost sad. Yet the grooms are mostly good to look at. Why are American brides so—so—glum?"

I looked through my magazines and added four or five pictures to my friend's collection, and I must confess there was but one that could bring a smile—a tender smile to an observer's lips.

This was the picture of a girl in the millionaire class, New York born, bred and educated. She is so young, so pretty, so innocently frankly happy, this little recent bride was the exception that proved the rule that our brides are of the Martha type, seemingly troubled about many things.

Truth to tell, the wedding day of many of our prettiest girls finds them at their worst as to freshness and gaiety. Weary eyes, nerves frazzled, hysteria hovering close at hand, the wonderful day of her girlish dreams turns into the most exacting, trying day of her life! And she meets it with a fierce demand upon the last of her reserve strength.

Doubt that? Ask a doctor—especially one whose practice is with the socially prominent. He can tell—but he won't probably—how many brides he has barely kept going till the rice followed them into the motor car and they found sanctuary in the circle of a husband's arm.

With us from the announcement of the date of her approaching wedding, the bride-to-be enters upon an endurance test that makes a six-day bicycle race seem only moderately intensive. The shopping, the seeking, the fitting! The gifts at first a joy, become things of dread, demanding, as each does, its personal acknowledgment.

Every member of the family begins to entertain her with an enthusiasm close upon violence. Luncheon and matinee—yea, dancing, dinner and dancing, theatre and supper and breakfast and even dancing then sometimes. Everyone having fed her, she finally turns to and feeds her bridal party and lets them dance a little.

They Are Tired

The next day, worn, weary—with the set face of a leader of a forlorn hope, she makes the gesture of acceptance—and is straightway asked to "look pleasant."

That's what's the matter with the American brides! They're bright and brave and warm-hearted, but—their popularity has undone them. They are tired, tired, and they look it when they're asked to stare into the eye of the relentless camera.

I never knew an American girl who could not best her enemies without help. But, oh, future brides, pray loud and long:

"Protect me from my friends—my friends!"

THE HOME KITCHEN

The Authority on Home Cooking

How to Make Garnishes Good to Look at and to Eat.

GARNISHING dishes so that they appeal to the appetite as well as the eye has long been in favor with devotees of advanced cookery, but today, more than ever before, garnishes must not only please the eye, but must be edible as well. This means learning a new and less familiar branch of cookery which, while not difficult, is fussy and takes time.

The garnishes should be suitable for the dishes they grace and plentiful enough to serve with each portion of the cooked dainty.

Recipes are rather scarce for this sort of cookery, as the secrets have belonged to the French school and the chefs have been slow in instructing other people in their own specialties. A few simple recipes are given here as a starter for the home cook.

Mirror Olives.

Stone a number of the largest green olives to be found. Make a paste of a little pate de foi gras, a little minced pepper, a teaspoonful of finely-ground nutmeats and a few drops of onion juice. Fill the olives with the mixture. Place the olives in tiny, individual moulds, wet with cold water. Pour over them enough cool aspic or lemon jelly to cover them and set them to harden.

Anchovy Truffles.

Open a small can of truffles, drain them and, with a sharp knife, cut them in halves or quarters, depending on the size. Season a little anchovy paste with pepper, a few drops of onion juice, a half-teaspoonful of finely-minced celery leaves and the same of red pepper. Spread two pieces of truffle, sandwich fashion, with this mixture, and place them in little wet moulds, then cover them with aspic or lemon jelly and set them to harden. Either of these garnishes may be used with fish dishes.

Herring Fingers.

Open a can of herring filets and drain them, then sprinkle them with a little lemon juice and dust them with red pepper and a few drops of onion juice. Have ready a delicate crust rolled out thin. Cut the crust into pieces big enough to roll the little filets in, fold them over like wee turnovers and bake them until the crust is done. These fingers are good to serve with fish or potato salad.

Chicken Liver Bonet.

Boil two pairs of chicken livers until they are very tender, adding an onion, a few pieces of celery, a quarter of a bay leaf, two cloves and a teaspoonful of catsup to the water. When they are done, chop the livers very fine and season them with pepper, salt and a little grated cheese, then spread them on tiny toast rounds. Break one egg into a little saucepan with a tablespoonful of cream cheese and one of grated cheese, a teaspoonful of butter and the same of cream. Stir this mixture constantly until it is thickened, then pour a little over each round. This makes an excellent garnish for chicken croquettes.

Chopped Jelly.

As[illegible] may be chopped and served as a garnish [illegible] olives, truffles or [illegible] cut in blocks or fancy shapes for the purpose.

Here Are Valuable Complexion Cream Hints

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

ALL women, at least on this continent, are strong in their sentiments against any toilet preparation that might possibly encourage the growth of hair on the face.

A soft down, often compared to that of the peach, is natural, and especially in European countries, is considered a mark of beauty. Many of our American women, however, don't even care for this.

For this reason they use creams and lotions very sparingly upon their faces. Now, in this day of refined toilet preparations, there are very few, if any, preparations on the market which encourage the growth of superfluous hairs.

On the other hand, some women shun grease creams, not at all because they fear the growth of hair, but because they feel that their skins already have enough natural oil.

Sometimes the oil secretions of the skin are in excess of the amount of oil absorbed by the air. Women who are troubled with this condition often have to wash their faces many times a day, and still it seems that they cannot rid themselves of this annoying condition.

If exterior applications do not remedy it, the source of trouble is usually interior. This generally means that your diet is incorrect. It has been said that every woman who watches her diet carefully, who eats very sparingly of fatty and greasy foods and who eats almost no pastry and candy should have a lovely complexion.

Now sometimes, I think, there are exterior conditions or infections which show that this statement needs modifying. However, in general, I think any woman who lets herself watch these conditions and be guided by them is very likely to have a complexion of which she can be justly proud.

Besides having a complexion which comes nearer resembling the envied rose-petal, you will surely have a body which is more vibrantly healthy. And you should have a fatter purse, for if you observe all these rules of good health there'll be fewer occasions for you to have a doctor's bill to pay.

If you like liquid creams, here is one that is easily made, and besides being whitening to your skin, it is slightly astringent. The latter quality is excellent in a cream, for it helps to tone up your skin and keep it from sagging.

Spirits of benzoin	2 tablespoonfuls
Rose water	4 ounces
Glycerine	4 ounces

You can keep a bottle of this on your dressing-table and apply it after you wash your face. Allow it to soak into your skin and dry before applying powder.

When applying powder, be very careful to confine it almost all to your nose and never spread it too lavishly about your face. [illegible] never help [illegible] from which the [illegible] has been removed contributes to the attractiveness of our features.

LAMB ARGUES HIS REVENUE

MEASURE PROPOSES NUMBER OF DRASTIC DEPARTURES.

Provides for Assessment of Every Dollar, Tangible or Intangible, Except Where Constitution Fixes Exemption.

Representative Elmer J. Lamb of Johnson county, chairman of the house committee on taxation and revenue and author of H. R. 288 which proposes drastic changes in the present system of taxation, took the floor in committee of the whole Wednesday morning to explain and defend his bill. He resumed his argument after the noon recess. He presented figures purportING to show that adoption of his plan, if administered in good faith, will increase the total tax revenue approximately $28,050,000

The bill provides for the assessment of every dollar of property, tangible or intangible, at its actual value, government exemptions alone excepted. Precinct assessors are abolished. This item, according to the introducer, will save the taxpayers $500,000 a year. It provides for the sending of blanks or schedules direct to the taxpayer. He shall fill them out and return to the county assessor.

"It is a people's problem and not a political problem," he said. "This bill will reduce the taxes of every man who has paid honestly. There is a demand for a change in the present law. This is the only measure before you."

He was questioned at length in regard to some of the provisions. Proposed elimination of the precinct assessor drew many queries. Representative Barbour suggested that the precinct assessor attempts to average his values. With each property owner making his own return, he questions whether or not there will be the same degree of equity as should govern under the assessor system.

Mr. Lamb took the stand that men are honest. The property owner is the best judge of his own. All returns are subject to review by the county assessor and the state board of equalization. Schedules are to be published. Each taxpayer will be a sort of Sherlock to see to it that his neighbor makes proper return. He said that while the law requires that the assessor view the property assessed, this is not always done. Mr. Lamb presented in part, the following:

"Revenue is the most complex problem of government. Equality of assessment is a just demand of every taxpayer. If any man avoids the payment of tax the other taxpayers must pay it for him. We have never had equality of assessment. We have assessed the farmer's lands, his stock, grain, and his wife's chickens, but commercial paper and money have always escaped. We have at this time $600,000,000 of mortgages and municipal securities exempt from taxation. We have millions in commerial investments that have never paid their share of taxes in spite of the fact that they must use our courts, and our enforcement machinery a hundred times where the masses use them only once. This bill attempts to assess every dollar of property to the owner. If it does this it will fulfill its mission. If it fails, it should be amended to accomplish this purpose.

"There is no room in Nebraska either for a legalized tax dodger, or a tax dodger in spite of the law. Exemption is legalized crime. The single standard of taxation is the only standard by which property should be assessed. Justice to every man and to every interest.

"Following is an estimate of amounts which would be added to the property of the state by the provisions of this bill if administered in good faith:

Assessment by mail will bring a flat saving of	$ 300,000
Assessment of chattel mortgages as provided	250,000,000
Assessment of judgments	50,000,000
Promissory notes	200,000,000
Money and time deposits	200,000,000
Merchandise and manufactured articles	200,000,000
Corporations	100,000,000
Tax sale certificates and ma-
tured insurance policies	200,000,000
Real estate mortgages	500,000,000
	$1,850,000,000
On a levy of 15 mills this would bring in tax	27,750,000
Mail assessment will save in cash	300,000

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy fixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it, and draw this thru your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Advertisement.

BOTH BUSINESSLIKE AND ECONOMICAL

I am glad to know that Lincoln is to have a Community Chest. This places the necessity for giving and otherwise, upon a businesslike, budgetary basis, and should meet with the hearty approval of all public-spirited citizens of the community.

In the carrying out of such a policy, it seems to me that those who desire to give would be willing to be a little bit more liberal in their contributions, knowing that it would be an economy for them after all, on account of the time and energy saved from the making of so many drives.

GOVERNOR CRITICISES BANK GUARANTY BILL

Objects to the Turning Over of Assets of Present Receiverships to Bank Commissioners.

Governor Bryan stated Wednesday that he was unfavorably impressed with the increase in power given by the senate amendments to the banking bill, H. R. 272, but he did not indicate that he proposed to veto the bill. It is certain to be presented to him for his approval, according to friends of the measure.

The governor said it had been represented that the banking commission or guaranty fund commission is nothing but an advisory body so far as going banks are concerned.

"Now I find from reading the bill," said the governor, "that the guaranty fund commission not only supersedes the banking department in handling not only the assets of failed banks in the future but takes over $8,000,000 of assets now in the hands of receivers. Why is the name guaranty fund commission used if the commission has no power over the guaranty fund?

"Another feature of the bill that has not impressed me favorably is what appears to be the indirect use of the guaranty fund to repay loans from banks to failing banks. In regard to the appointment of a commission from lists chosen by the groups of bankers it is likely there will be much political strife to see what group shall obtain control of the bankers' association or groups. I have received protests from many bankers who belong to the association on the ground that they fear favoritism or discrimination if bankers are given any considerable control of banking matters."

No Profiteer.

"Well, Mr. Bronson," said the minister, "I hope you derived profit from the service this morning."

"Sir," returned Bronson, inclining to be indignant, "I assure you I drop business on Sunday and attend church with no hope of profit."—Boston Transcript.

SEEK CHANGE IN CONTROL

COMMUNISTS WOULD TRANSFORM ENTIRE GOVERNMENT.

Ruthenberg Admits That Rule in Michigan Is Considered Capitalistic Since It Is Integral Part of U. S. System.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 28.—Prosecutors, cross-examining Charles E Ruthenberg, defense witness in the William Z. Foster trial, brought out today that the program of communists, if carried out, would change the entire system of government in this country.

O. L. Smith, assistant attorney general of Michigan, questioning Ruthenberg, chief witness for the alleged communist, on trial charged with violation of the Michigan syndicalist law, asked:

"Is there any thing in the doctrine of communism which would transform and change the government of Michigan?"

"Yes, as a part of the change in the form of government of the United States," the witness answered.

"Is the government of Michigan and Berrien county considered capitalistic by communists?" the prosecutor asked.

"Insofar as it is an integral part of the general capitalistic system of the United States," replied Ruthenberg.

The jury, composed largely of farmers, listened intently to the testimony.

Continuing, Smith asked:

"Is it not the ultimate object of your doctrine to change the capitalistic system of society as it exists in Michigan, into a communistic society?"

"That is correct," answered the witness.

On redirect examination, Ruthenberg went into the New York meeting of communists held a week ago Sunday.

Under questioning by Frank P Walsh, chief defense attorney, the witness placed a different aspect on the gathering than was brought out by the prosecution.

"The purpose of the New York meeting was outlined by John Pepper," the witness said. "Pepper talked in German and I translated the speech for the audience.

"Pepper said that the purpose of the meeting was to amalgamate the communist party with the worker's party."

Worse.

Someone remarked to a visiting international celebrity, "I suppose many people attend your lectures merely to boast that they saw you."

"Yes," he replied, "and it is even worse than that. Some do so for the privilege of saying they seen me."—

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

GAS COMPANY COURT COSTS

City Attorney and Attorney for Corporation Holding Conference to Reach Agreement.

City Attorney Peterson and Attorney Max Beghtol for the Lincoln Gas and Electric company are now seeking to reach an agreement as to the amount of court costs that are still due from the company and just where the city stands. The amount involved is between $8,000 and $9,000.

The conference held at the city hall Wednesday morning disclosed that there is a difference of approximately $500 between thecity attorney and the attorney for the gas corporation. An agreement must be reached before a settlement is made. Mr. Peterson said that an agreement will probably be reached soon.

Attorney Beghtol estimated that the court costs alone since the case started in 1907 will amount to $40,000. A fortune has been spent for attorney fees during the long-drawn out litigation between the public service corporation and the city of Lincoln.

Six presidents of the United States have died while serving in office.

South American may Displace Willard; Tigers Will not Change Playing Dates

PRINCIPALS IN MAY 12 SHOW MAY CHANGE

Much Talk About Substituting Luis Firpo Against Floyd Johnson—Farmer Lodge Barred by N. Y. Commission.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Luis Angel Firpo the South American giant is take Jess Willard's place and fight Floyd Johnson in the big charity show here on May 12, according to word going round today.

Although Willard has been reported as training strictly and doing well at Excelsior Springs, it was intimated from a source close to Firpo that the South American had been asked to be ready to take the place of either fighter in the event that some dispute arises to break up the card.

Floyd Johnson Runs Out.

Johnson broke all sprinting records getting out of his match with Tom Gibbons, and although improbable, it is possible that he might be seeking a hole to get away from Willard.

Firpo signed a contract right after the Brennan fight in which he agreed to appear on the card against an unselected opponent and also to go in as a part of the main bout if one of the principals failed to go thru with the agreement.

The South American was all set to take on a couple of exhibition bouts and do a little stage work when Tex Rickard notified him that he should do nothing that might prevent him from acting as a pinch hitter on the card. As Luis Angel is to get $15,000 as a prize for fighting for sweet charity, he paid heed to the words of Rickard.

Refuse To Sanction Bout.

After the promoters of the show had looked all over the country for an ideal setup and had decided upon Farmer Lodge, the huge Minnesota "jaw breaker," the boxing commission came along and ruined the plans by refusing to permit Luis to battle with the farmer.

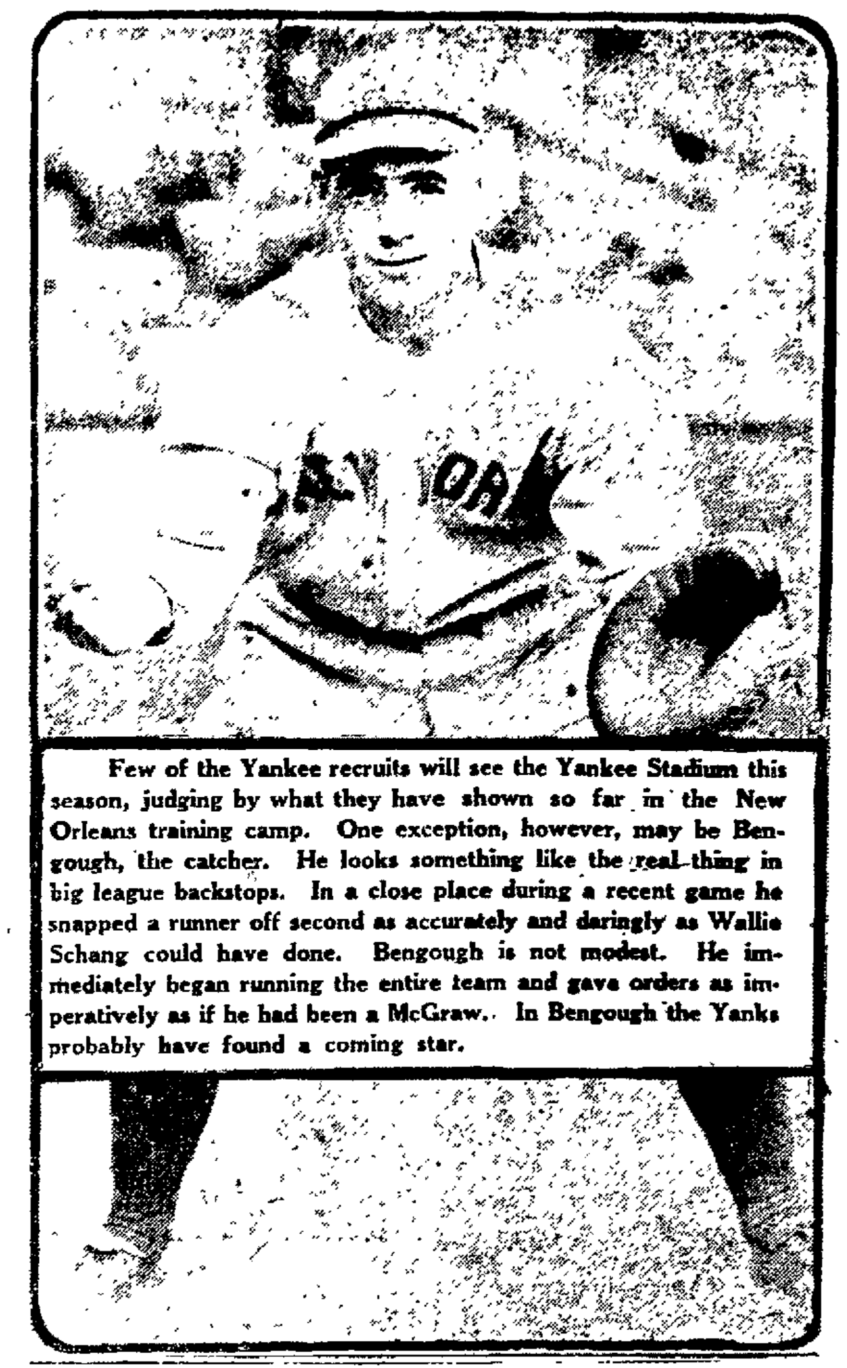

William Muldoon, chairman of the commission, claims to be in possession of information that Martin Burke whipped the ears off the farmer in New Orleans March 16 and floored him in the first round. Muldoon intimated that Lodge became known as the "jaw breaker" by fracturing his own bones on the floor.

Passing Jack Renault.

Firpo is now without an opponent for the scheduled semi-windup but the promoters will not be bothered if it is true that Willard has tired of the terrible job of getting in shape and wants to call it off.

The commission wants Firpo to fight the Canadian, Jack Renault, but all hands have joined in the chorus—"that fellow's too tough right now."

YANKS MAY HAVE STAR IN BENGOUGH, WHO "NAILS" RUNNERS AT SECOND AND RUNS TEAM FROM BEHIND BAT

Few of the Yankee recruits will see the Yankee Stadium this season, judging by what they have shown so far in the New Orleans training camp. One exception, however, may be Bengough, the catcher. He looks something like the real thing in big league backstops. In a close place during a recent game he snapped a runner off second as accurately and daringly as Wallie Schang could have done. Bengough is not modest. He immediately began running the entire team and gave orders as imperatively as if he had been a McGraw. In Bengough the Yanks probably have found a coming star.

ENGLAND HATES TO SEE WILDE CONTEST

British Followers Want to Remember Him as He Was Not as He Is—Wills to Battle Siki In Europe.

By Henry L. Farrell.

NEW YORK, March 27.—England is alarmed over the prospect of having Jimmy Wilde, the Empire's only champion, knocked over by Pancho Villa, the little coffee-colored Philippino.

From the wails being printed in the London press it would seem that the superiorority of the American is so firmly established that it would be only a painful ceremony to go thru with in transferring the crown.

"That Wilde shauld have decided to risk his great reputation after more than two years' abstention from boxing and at a period of his boxing career when it has been made plain that he is not the Wilde of old, invincible at his own weight and at anything up to a stone above it, will be a cause of regret to his thousands of admirers," Sporting Life (London) says.

"He has been urged again and again to retire since his defeat by Pete Herman. True, it was no disgrace to be beaten by such a man, for Wilde was trying to give away a stone to the best bantamweight we have seen in this country for a long stretch of years. It was evident in that contest that Wilde was not the man we used to know.

"Still, boxing is a business and money, and Wilde has been tempted by an American offer which will put into his bank a small fortune."

Wilde isn't risking his great reputation by fighting now. He's adding to it by not following the example of American champions in picking up setups. Wilde's reputation now consists in what he was, not what he is, and if he is knocked out or loses to Villa, it will not detract one bit from what he is.

More or less casually, the London papers also announced a few days ago that Harry Wills was going to leave the United States for Europe next month and that he had been engaged to do battle with that other colored battler, Battling Siki.

Missouri Pastimers Unable To Switch Schedule For Games With Nebraskans

Huskers Leave This Week for Norman, Okla., and Opening Game—First Practice Game Played Here.

Nebraska will not play baseball at Missouri this week end and thereby consolidate a four-game series into one trip. A wire was received from the Tiger athletic authories Wednesday morning in which they stated it was impossible to switch dates. The Huskers will leave Friday or Saturday for Newman, Okla., where they open Monday and Tuesday against the Sooners. Coach Scott Dye has not decided how many men he will take.

Huskers Crack the Season With Game

The first game of baseball was played in Lincoln this season Tuesday afternoon when Scott Dye, coach of the Nebraska squad divided his hopes in half and sent them together. The drill field was used as a diamond but the rough infield made fielding a matter of luck and not science.

After the first cursory glance at his athletes Coach Dye remarked after this fashion:

"I believe we've got a ball club."

Owen Frank, last year's coach, looked on for several minutes.

"The boys look pretty good," was his comment.

Unable To Perspire.

The air was cool enough to keep anybody from getting up a sweat and a pitcher who is unable to lather a bit feels as much at home on a mound as the average citizen does in a union depot.

The entire pitching staff was given a shot at it. Schoenberg, an infielder and Hodson, outfielder, divided the honors for long hitting, both getting a three-sacker. Herb Dewitz and Bi Arries clouted an extra-base hit each.

Hodson executed the neatest piece of fielding when he chased back behind a row of tea-roses and gathered in a long fly.

Two Workouts Daily.

Coach Dye is figuring on two workouts a day from now on to try and make up for the time lost when bad weather kept the Nebraska athletes housed up in the armory.

JEWISH FUND DRIVE SUCCESS

Three Days Yet to Go to Reach $200,000 Goal.

OMAHA, Neb., March 28.—One hundred and eighty-seven thousand dollars raised—$13,000 to get—three more days of furious campaigning.

That sums up Harry Lapidus' announcements Tuesday morning anent progress in a drive to raise $200,000 to build a Jewish community center.

In the three-day extension of the campaign, the committee intends to carry its selling arguments into every Jewish home in Omaha.

Two hundred workers representing the Young Men's Hebrew and the Young Women's Hebrew associations met Tuesday night at Lyric hall com-structions. Lapidus addressed them. "How to Sell the Toughest Guy in Town" was his subject.

"It is possible," he declared, "for there are definite, satisfying reasons for helping to realize the center plans."

Morris Levy has agreed to give $50,000, provided the remainder of $200,000 is obtained in the campaign.

Campaigners will lunch today at the Brandeis grill.

LINCOLN BOWLERS IN A. B. C. START SLOW

And as a Result Fail to Place in Five-Man Event—Capital City Pin Knockers Roll in Other Divisions.

MILWAUKEE, Wis, March 27.—A poor start of 816 and inability to cluster strikes combined for the downfall of the F. B. Fleming Jewel Shop quintet of Lincoln in its quest for honors in the five-men event of the American Bowling Congress tournament here Tuesday night. The team totalled 2,607.

The Lincoln bowlers opened with 816, then awakened to 877, and closed at somewhere near its speed, getting 914. Simodynes was the leading woodgetter on the team, his series being 544. Spangler ran him a close race with 540 and gained the additional distinction of being the only man on the team to negotiate a twin century.

A chance for a comeback will be given the Nebraskans Wednesday when they roll in the doubles and singles events. The Tuesday night score:

PROSECUTION IN FOSTER CASE FAILS TO TRAP WITNESS.

Ruthenberg Denies That All Steps Taken by Communist Party Here Are Dictated by Moscow Internationals.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 28.—The prosecution in the William Z. Foster trial concentrated today on attempts to show close working arrangements between communists in America and those of Russia.

Prof. Charles E. Ruthenberg, chief defense witness, undergoing his fourth day of questioning, prosecution attorneys sought to bring out that all steps taken by the communist party in this country were dictated by the Moscow third internationale.

Cross-examination of Ruthenberg is expected to continue into Thursday. He was the first witness to testify in an effort to clear Foster, alleged communist, of charges of violation of the Michigan syndicalist law.

Documents introduced in evidence by the prosecution during questioning of Ruthenberg have proven, according to C. W. Gore, chief prosecution attorney, that

1 The Bridgeman meeting of communists which resulted in indictments of Foster and associates, was ordered from Moscow.

2 That Moscow instructed the communists to invite Foster, who at that time was secretary of the trades union educational league.

3—That the Moscow organization has ordered a convention of communists to be held in this country in May, to mark the resumption of the movement in this country on a large scale.

Despite the documents presented, however, prosecution attorneys admit they have been unable to obtain any statements from Ruthenberg seriously damaging to Foster's defense.

The witness has said Foster attended the convention at Bridgeman but refused to classify the defendant as a communist or a delegate. The defense claims Foster was there merely as an observer.

Ruthenberg was calm and deliberate in answering questions. His ability to keep out of "traps" set for him in queries by the prosecution has resulted in attracting crowds to the little court house where the trial is in progress. Before the doors were opened today a long line of spectators was waiting to obtain desirable positions in the court room.

LIFE CONVICT AN ARTIST.

McALESTER, Ok., March 28.—Monotony of gray prison walls failed to smother the genius of a life termer at the Oklahoma state penitentiary here. "Old Dutch," as the prisoner is known, convicted twenty-five years ago for murdering his wife, disclosed talent for painting and used his skill to beautify the prison dining room and lobbies. Thru kindness to the prisoner, Warden M. C. Townsend has withheld the artist's real name. Few about the prison know his name. He is "Old Dutch," the prison artist, to everyone there.

W. H. SMITH IS APPOINTED

nomination of Mr. Smith to the senate. The constitution gives the governor power to remove any officer whom he shall appoint, in case of incompetency, neglect of duty or malfeasance in office. The governor has made no attempt to declare the tax commissioner's office vacant, but is now seeking to fill by appointment under the provision of statute which says the term of office shall be for two years from the first Thursday after the first Tuesday in January, 1921 or until his successor is appointed and confirmed.

Mr. Osborne's work is said to have been very satisfactory, so much so that a large majority of county officials, county clerks and county assessors petitioned the governor to reappoint him on account of his ability and experience.

Mr. Smith's ability and fitness are also conceded. He served four years as state auditor, was also a state senator and formerly served as secretary of the senate. He is a newspaper publisher and still owns the Seward Democrat. As state auditor he was a member of the state board of assessment and equalization and aided that board in making out annual estimates of expenses and receipts of the state government and assisted in fixing the amount of the state levy and equalizing property values in all the counties. He was elected state auditor on the democratic ticket. He aided Governor Bryan in preparing the governor's supplementary budget of state appropriations.

There is some disposition in the senate to oppose the appointment of a successor for Tax Commissioner Osborne, but no expression has yet come from that body.

The term of office and salary of the state tax commissioner is fixed by law, not by the constitution. The statute two years ago fixed the pay at $5,000. It is alleged that under the constitution if the senate confirms Mr. Smith's appointment it cannot change his salary during his term of office.

Mr. Smith's appointment was presented to the senate at the afternoon session, but on motion of Saunders it was laid over. oN definite time was fixed, which means that the senate will take its own time to consider what shall be done about it.

DIDN'T MEAN WHAT IT SAID

BEUSHAUSEN SAYS SPECIAL INTERESTS HAS TWO MEANINGS.

Member From Sherman Makes Explanation to His Colleagues of Article Written to Home County Newspaper.

Following the unanimous passage by the house Wednesday morning of a resolution demanding that Representative Beushausen of Sherman county either take back or furnish proof of his charges, made in a letter to the Litchfield Monitor, that the chairmen of the various house committees were selected because of their fitness and desire for service to the special interests, that legislator submitted a written explanation.

The principal feature of his statement was that when he used "special interests," a term familiar in legislative halls as referring to the trusts and corporations, he didn't mean anything derogatory to the chairmen, but merely was pointing out that they were specially fitted to serve such special interests as agriculture, education and the like.

The statement to which the legislators objected was this: "Do not expect too much from this legislature for the chairman of each committee has been put there because of his fitness and desire to serve some special interest."

He defended the right to express his opinion on the prospect of legislation by this body, and said that its record and the comment of the people and press showed that too much is not expected from it. He said he had no wish to belittle any of the chairmen, and he didn't suppose that any member was ashamed of the interest he represents. Mr. Dysart was in the employ of an Omaha corporation and this fact does not cause Beushausen to respect him the less and he added that the more Dysart labors for the firm the more he admires and respects him. He was made judiciary chairman to oppose the Bryan bills, he said.

Miner is chairman of the committee on education and represents the educational interests, the explanation continues, and Mr. Peterson, chairman of the committee on agriculture, represents the agricultural interests that have registered lobbyists. Clarke owns telephone stock and Lamb is interested in revenue laws, and so on, he added.

Beushausen sought to show that his sentence that chairmen were named because of their fitness and desire to serve some special interest didn't mean anything derogatory to anybody. He divided it, and argued that certainly none of them would claim that they were not "selected because of their fitness," after which he cited the other half to show it meant some special interest. He is a printer and publisher, he said, and if he were named on a committee to which bills affecting that industry were submitted he would be representing that special interest.

Before the explanation was read, the house refused his request to have it go into the record in connection with the resolution. They wanted to know what was in it first. Nobody discussed it after it was read.

The statement contained a challenge to Reid Green to a joint debate on the accomplishments of the legislature. Mears wondered that a member would so far forget himself as to accuse his fellow members of crime, and he would like to know what special interest he represented as chairman of appropriations. He resented the language.

Real Soft Water A Boon in Every Home

Clear, clean, 100 per cent soft water is a step forward in better living conditions that is appreciated by everyone.

Even in cities where the regular water supply is not so hard as to cause pronounced inconvenience, real soft water promotes household economy to a remarkable degree, and greatly increases the joy of living.

People who have never known absolutely soft water do not realize this, perhaps. But those who have enjoyed soft water know that for bathing, shampooing, and shaving; for laundering, cleaning and cooking, and for drinking, water without a trace of hardness is a boon.

Real soft water has been denied to most people. In some places people use rain water from cisterns. But these are unsanitary and unsatisfactory and have been prohibited in most cities.

Now soft water is available in every home, gushing from every faucet at regular city pressure.

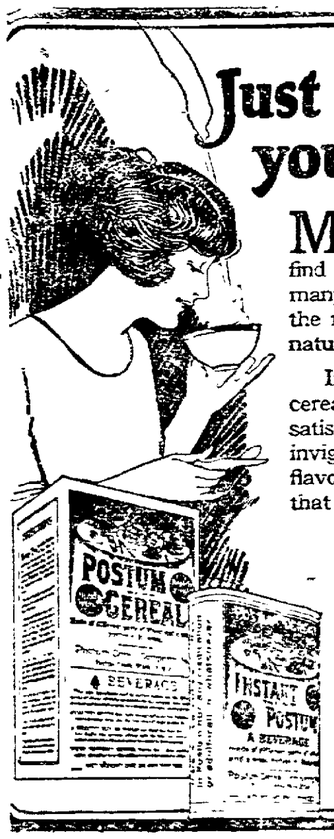

This is made possible by the Wayne Rapid-Rate System of Softening Water. The Wayne System, to the development of which has been devoted Wayne's 30 years experience in engineering and fine manufacturing, can be easily installed in any home. It is in expensive and costs but little to operate. It adds nothing to the water. It only takes the hardness away.

Will you let us explain to you just what 100 per cent soft water will mean in your home in better living and greater economy? A telephone call will bring a courteous and well informed representative.

MADE GIFT OF HER HUSBAND

BOTH WIVES WERE INMATES OF REFORMATORY AT YORK.

H. L. Gore Arrested at Beatrice on Bigamy Charge—Women Arrange Transfer Without Formality of Divorce.

BEATRICE, Neb., March 28.—H. L. Gore was arrested here on a charge of bigamy, filed at Republican City, Kas. His surplus wife is to be taken to York reformatory, this state. Gore's arrest followed the gift of Gore by his first wife to the second Mrs. Gore.

According to the story told to Sheriff John Saling, the real Mrs. Gore and the second wife became friends in the state reformatory, where both were inmates. Mrs. Gore, being unable to write, used the other woman as a secretary, and endeavored to show her appreciation by presenting her with her husband without the formality of either securing a divorce. The other woman corresponded with Gore for some time, and when told that she was to be paroled, told Mrs. Gore that she intended coming to Beatrice after her husband, Mrs. Gore replying that it would be perfectly all right with her.

She came to Beatrice and Gore and the woman went to Belleville, Kas., where the marriage ceremony was performed, both returning to Beatrice. Gore came to Beatrice from Hebron.

Probation officers, investigating brought to light the presentation of the husband to the other woman and arrests followed. Gore asked local officers to permit him to plead guilty in Nebraska without being sent to Kansas. The second wife is the mother of two children. She informed officials that the father of the little ones is a man with whom she had lived in the western part of the state before going to the reformatory.

Bandits Again Attack Place Where Fogg Was Killed.

OMAHA, Neb., March 28.—The drug store at 2802 Farnam street where Frank Fogg was shot and killed by a bandit, was the scene of another hold-up Tuesday.

Al Heissel, clerk for J. E. Danielson, who now operates the store, was tied by a negro bandit who slashed off his tie with a butcher knife to get a diamond stickpin and then escaped after looting the cash register of between $45 and $50.

Heissel was alone in the store when the robber entered and asked for a bottle of patent medicine. When Heissel refused to extend credit, the negro drew a pistol, remarking, "Well, if you won't give it to me on time I've got to get the money somewhere."

He backed Heissel into the rear of the store and tied his hands with a rope after first trying to jerk a suspension light cord from the ceiling.

AIM FOR FRATLESS SCHOOL

Eight Omaha Central School Boys Resign From Clubs and Frats for Harmony of School.

OMAHA, Neb., March 28.—A clubless and fratless Central high school within two years is the vision that a group of eight Central high school boys whose motto "one for all, all for one," has led them to resign from all clubs and fraternities.

Altho members of the faculty heartily endorse the action of the eight, they did not promote the idea. A meeting of the junior class was held Monday to try to get the junior members of the clubs to resign and thus remove the keystone from the club life foundation.

Frat leaders, and active club members stood pat with the exception of the eight, some are bitter, but there appears to be a trembling in the club and fraternal structure which promises that the eight may have started something that will move in time toward their vision.

LITTLE OMAHA BOY KILLED

Two Other Persons Seriously Injured in Automobile Accidents Tuesday Night.

OMAHA, March 28.—A four-year-old boy was killed and two other persons seriously injured Tuesday night in three automobile accidents here.

Phillip Caniglia, four, struck to the pavement by a speeding car which did not stop and whose occupants are unidentified this morning, died ten minutes later in St. Joseph's hospital.

Police were investigating another automobile accident thirty feet from the place where Phillip was struck, when the speeding automobile tore down the street and hit the boy. Oresta Beaticina, victim of the first accident had been knocked down by a car driven by Walter Meyen and seriously injured.

Louis Cain suffered cuts and bruises when the car in which he rode, driven by C. R. Gillen, and one driven by Allen Root, collided.

FIFTY YEARS FOR FAIRFIELD CHURCH

Congregationalists Celebrate Organization Half Century Ago by Rev. Thomas Pugh Who Came From Pennsylvania.

FAIRFIELD, Neb., March 28.—Sunday and Monday, March 25 and 26, the First Congregational church of Fairfield, Nebraska, celebrated the completion of fifty years since its organization. Among the noted local guests was the only living charter member of the church, John Palmer. The out of town speakers included president of Doane college, Crete, Neb.; Dr. Tyler, of Lincoln, superintendent of the Congregational churches in Nebraska, and H. L. Case, a former acting pastor, of Reynolds, Neb.

Special features of the occasion were a review of the church history, given by John Palmer, and the reception of the new pastor, Dr. Davis, which was given on Monday evening.

The first pastor, and the man who organized the church was Thomas Pugh, a representative of the American Bible society in Nebraska in the territorial days.

He distributed bibles and tracts all over the sparse settlements of what is now termed Nebraska, carrying his stock with him for distribution in an old buckboard pulled by one horse.

When Sunday came Rev. Mr. Pugh preached to the people where he chanced to be, using for an edifice oftimes a sod house.

Men authorized to perform marriage ceremonies were very scarce in those days and there were scores of couples availed themselves of the opportunity to get married when the itinerant preacher arrived on his occasional rounds.

Thomas Pugh homesteaded two miles west of Fairfield a year before the organization of his church. He came from Pennsylvania when practically a young man, settling near Fairfield where he passed away at the ripe old age of eighty years.

For the first ten years of his residence in the territory he was the only man in what is now termed Jefferson and Nuckolls counties authorized to officiate at weddings, and he journeyed fifty to seventy-five miles to conduct funerals.

Traveling Still Difficult.

AURORA, Neb., March 28.—Most of the traveling in Hamilton county for the past two weeks has been along the north and south roads. The east and west roads have been the worst for many years. Even yet, there are several bad places in the S. Y. A. and frequently travelers have to be pulled out of these holes. Some farmers declare that all of the snow piled up on the east and west roads and none of it stayed on their wheat fields.

In July, 1926, the American dollar was actually worth 48 cents.

BUILDING BOOM AT M'COOK

Twenty-five New Homes Under Construction and More Are Contemplated.

M'COOK, Neb., March 28.—McCook is already working to relieve the continued shortage of dwellings in this city. Twenty-five new homes are now under construction and more are contemplated Indeed, the open winter has made it possible to build during practically the entire winter and advantage has been taken of this condition, giving employment to carpenters during quite the entire winter months. 1923 promises well in home building. Kimball Bros. of Lincoln will also begin their branch house at this place in a few days. Nelson & Co. have their commission house well under way now.

CHARM FAILS MISTAH TUCKER

Despite It Negro Caught Twice in Police Net at Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., March 27.—Luther Tucker, colored, stroked a rabbit's foot and lamented his ill-luck when a police raiding squad caught him twice in its net Saturday night.

Monday Tucker was nursing the same rabbit foot while riding to police court with Charlie Sapp, 1314 Pierce street, his bondsman. He had it in his pocket.

"That's no place for it," counseled one of two fellow victims, also riding to court. "You should carry it in your hand."

Tucker did as directed.

Then came a crash as Sapp's truck collided with a car, and Tucker and his companions picked themselves up off the pavement. Tucker's arm was broken.

INGROWN TOE NAIL

How to Toughen Skin so Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naurally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Advertisement.

LATEST MARKETS

CHICAGO, March 28.—Trade was dull on the Chicago board of trade today and grain prices closed lower as a result of restricted foreign demand due to the double holiday in Europe Friday and Saturday.

Russia was seen as a factor in the wheat situation by fall in advices from New York exporters. One exporter said he offered hard winter wheat of the new crop for sale abroad, but aroused little interest as European expect to see Russian wheat on the market by autumn. Coupled with this depressing feature was the fact that crop conditions were generally favorable.

Heavy corn receipts expected on the Chicago market weakened prices of the rough grains. About 100,000 bushels were reported bought for delivery in Chicago.

Oats trade was dull and featureless.

Provisions dropped under heavy hog receipts.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Responding to higher Liverpool cables, prices advanced at the opening of the Chicago board of trade today.

Wheat lead in the upraise. Rains were reported in sections of the southwest.

Some corn selling developed but was confined to realizing. Receipts were better than expected, 140 cars being reported. Reports showed that continentals were in the market for larger supplies of corn.

Strength in other grains were reflected in oats. Receipts were 75 cars.

Large western movements of livestock and hog selling by packers caused a higher provision market.

During the morning all grain lost their opening advances. Trading was dull.

Export buyers were inclined to hold off the market. Liverpool closed higher.

Continued large western livestock movements, indicating a falling off in the feeder demands, weakened the corn market.

Despite reports of further damage to new oats in the southwest, the result of the recent cold snap, prices were lower. Cash demand was slow.

Grain Market Opinions.

E. Lowitz & Co.: We believe all bulges will meet with increased offerings.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co.: The situation looks strong.

Stein-Alstrin: Trading markets are likely to continue.

Harris, Winthrop & Co.: News looked more favorable.

Clement Curtis & Co.: The markets look like trading affairs.

Hulburd, Warren & Chandler: We believe advances will prove only temporary.

Thomson-McKinnon: No important price swing to move higher.

Logan & Bryan: Market will have to adjust load of May wheat put on it the last few days, but there should be good buying of the deferred months on breaks, especially if weather conditions do not change. General conditions favor buying coarse grains on the setbacks.—Lamson.

Chicago Tribune Report.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Sentiment among local traders last night was more favorable to the buying side of wheat and corn on breaks. All markets are expected to do better.

A close observer of market and crop conditions looks for higher prices for wheat within the next eight months. He bases his prediction on a probable reduction in acreage and a shortage of farm labor. Bankers of the northwest have been advocating raising of less wheat while there is a movement among the farmers' associations to reduce the acreage to help in bringing about better prices.

The leading oats industry reports its plants running at 70 per cent to full capacity. Trade is good.

Export sales yesterday were 500,000 bushels of wheat, 150,000 bushels of corn and 500,000 to 600,000 bushels of rye. Greece was expected to take 1,250,000 bushels of Manitobas overnight.—Lamson.

Journal of Commerce Report.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Sentiment in the wheat trade was more confident after the close last night. With hard winter wheat in the spot market here bringing increased premiums, despite continued buying at Omaha to come here and the prediction for a return of freezing weather in Kansas, many were disposed to look for a cessation in the May liquidation and renewed investment buying of the new crop months.—Lamson.

Wall Street Journal Review.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Washington advices that the federal reserve authorities saw no reason for any immediate advance in rediscount rates gave the general market a strong tone at the opening. Gains of half to one point were scored by several industrial leaders. This buoyancy was intensified by the federal reserve's monthly summary of trade conditions. This survey says the continued business activity is indicated by maintenance of the high rate of industrial production, increases in freight traffic and employment, and a larger volume of retail and wholesale trade.

Gates Report.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Some people say, "How can you be bullish on corn with such heavy stocks in Chicago?"

Well, here's why as compared with last year:

Seaboard stocks 4,635,000 now against 14,695,000 year ago. Stocks at Duluth, Minneapolis and Milwaukee 1,524,000 against 12,548,000.

Chicago stocks 17,272,000 against 13,737,000 last year.

Stocks at Buffalo, Toledo and Indianapolis are almost negligible.

Export and domestic demand east of Chicago must be filled at expense of Chicago's stocks without material competition at any other market. Fair proportion of Chicago's stocks already sold for shipment.

Industrial demand, both locally and at eastern points, must be supplied largely from Chicago's stocks.

Why be afraid of Chicago accumulations when owners of these stocks are daily refusing to accept bids which are from day to day on higher basis as compared with May? Hear of one of the largest cereal mills that finds demand for oats products so good that it is running at record capacity.

Letter from Cedar Rapids, Ia., dated March 26, says that portion of state still covered with snow and will take very favorable weather for any field activity before the middle of April.—Lamson.

Untrodden Paths of Radio.

With the installation of radio communication contacts thruout the world, have come numerous improvements of major importance in the apparatus, and in the methods of sending and receiving messages. Among these improvements may be mentioned the high speed automatic transmission and reception of transoceanic messages.

In place of the older hand transmission by means of a key, and the reception of the signals by ear, there have been developed methods whereby the message, punched into paper tape in a form equivalent to dots and dashes, is machine-transmitted at high speeds; and the power of the transmitting stations, even tho it may faultlessly controlled by appropriate electrical means for the rapid production of the telegraphic signals.

Such high-speed messages cannot be received by ear, since no operator can possibly follow the signals. The secrecy and privacy of radiograms is entirely established by them. Remarkable automatic mechanisms have been developed actuating vibrating ink pens which write the message down, as dots and dashes, on a moving paper tape, from which tape the operator can readily transcribe the message. The combination of increased speed and increased accuracy which this improvement has brought about has resulted in its general introduction into the art here and abroad.

Another important innovation in the handling of radio traffic with minimum delay is the "radio central" system of operation, in which the actual transmission and reception are done in an appropriate location in the country where space and facilities of various sorts are readily available.

The control of the transmitting station is centralized, however, in the main city office, so that the actual operation of the radio circuits takes place in the city with greatly increased speed of delivery of messages and effective concentration of the staff. This plan is also increasingly used abroad at present as the result of its successful demonstration in this country.—General Harbord in The Nation's Business.

Pay for Skilled Services.

Speaking of the shortage of medical attendants at insane hospitals, the head of Northwestern University Medical school said:

"Pay physicians salaries equal to those of bricklayers and carpenters and our state institutions for the insane will have no trouble in finding doctors to serve on their medical staffs."

That remark brings up in striking form the question of skilled services. Civilization must have engineers, architects, doctors, dentists and teachers—the list might be extended very much, but that is enough for the time. Those professions require long and expensive training, while a common school education is a sufficient start in the manual trades.

Suppose two boys finish common school at the same age: one decides to be a doctor and other a carpenter. The latter has a short apprenticeship, during which he is earning some money all the time, and never under expense. The other lad has at least ten years of schooling—high school, college, medical school and hospital—all under heavy expense, before he is able to earn a dollar at his chosen profession. Yet, according to the head of a university medical department, the state pays carpenters more than it does doctors to care for the insane!

Such a condition does not help society to get those skilled services which it must have or go back to a much ruder and less comfortable way of life. People may differ as to what the remedy should be; there can be no rational doubt that a remedy is needed.—Chicago Journal.

MEN AND THINGS

Thru all the ages humanity has been paying a heavy toll in life and suffering for its allegiance to superstition that is plainly opposed to common sense. The peasants of Russia hold that mice are God's creatures and today are suffering from a famine caused by the fact that millions of rodents are eating their wheat as fast as it is planted. India has recurrent famines due to plagues caused by animals and insects millions of them refuse to kill because they may contain the transmigrated souls of dead relatives. In order to insure a sufficient supply of cows for India, it was decreed centuries ago that the cow was a sacred animal and must not be slaughtered for food. Every devout Hindu believes that today.

What good of all this preaching we do about the small part money plays in making men and women happy, when about every young person one talks with is intent upon making a lot of money and making it quickly in order to get in on the good things of life, as they say. It certainly is love's labor lost in the face of the fact that so many older persons act as tho experience had taught them the same thing. Employers everywhere complain that the newer workers do not meet the efficiency test. Isn't this the explanation? For assuredly when work is regarded as only a means to an end it is impossible to get them to listen patiently to a great truth, that it is an end in itself.

In recent years we have heard much of the slogan that he serves most who serves best. Now the true aim of all work is service, because it is agreed that it performs two useful functions, it adds to the comfort and convenience of others and it affords the individual an opportunity to express his own creative instinct, in which alone the highest pleasure is to be found. But if one is urged on to labor merely because it provides a means to buy pleasure, what sense of social responsibilities—which is the essence of service—can be said to exist? This is not a new philosophy. It has been stated over and over again in many forms. But what good are these repetitions accomplishing?

Those who sometimes or oftener conclude that the world is headed for perdition because of the growing irreligion will find contradictions to their conclusion in almost every intimate history of any particular part of past times. The same complaint was voiced by serious-minded in most of the stressful times of the past, and yet the people have been getting better and the world more worth living in than ever. Materialism is perhaps stronger than ever before, in the sense that more people have a larger sense of physical well-being. In other words, that they are more prosperous. This may lead people away from the church and dull their sense of obligation to the Creator, but we do not concede the possibility that men will ever lose the desire to get the sense of meaning in life, and that is the religious instinct in another guise.

However any of the well-known wets may have interpreted the governor's promises with respect to law enforcement when he was a candidate they cannot have any doubts left now of his determination to see that officers do their duty. We have no state sheriff, but a deputy who is just as powerful. The house, at the request of the governor, has advanced a bill that gives him the power of suspension of officers and the appointment of a temporary successor. This is real kingly power, but it is needed and, therefore, justified. With a big stick like that to shake at those officers who have relied in the past on local sentiment to support them in their winking at law violations better law enforcement is immediately possible. No officer who does his duty faithfully may fear trouble, and the fear of some members that it gives an opportunity for small town grudge holders to play even overlooks the fact that a complaint cannot be sustained against an officer who is guiltless, and that investigation precedes action.

E. W. Howe: "The government lately spent millions in an attempt to relieve the distress of country people. The country people, of course, got nothing; the politicians got it all. Now town people are asking relief and whatever is appropriated the politicians will get. Possibly you have observed a new extravagance appearing on the horizon; wives are demanding back pay. The women claim that for many years they have not received a fair division from their husbands. Now they demand back pay from the government, and an arrangement for the future whereby they will receive half of the earnings of their husbands. Now that women are voting and in politics, the movement has a good prospect of succeeding. And whatever amount is appropriated by the government, the politicians will get." Now that's an example of clever writing. Yet analyze it and see just how little of it is true and how much of what is true is exaggerated.

It looks t' us like King Tut had aimed t' give a street parade on Judgment day. When we think o' all th' holidays th' banks have we reckon a cashier don't think nothin' o' laym' off two t' fourteen years.
